WOMEN WILL HEAR MALLOCH SPEAK AT C. OF C. DINNER

Board Of Education Requires Buildings To Be Finished In Ten Months

Chief McGillan Of The Fire Department And Milwaukee Man Also To Talk

Three resolutions relating to bids for the new Junior High school were adopted at the special meeting of the board of education Thursday afternoon. The bids are now being advertised for to be in the office of the board of education not later than 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Nov. 12. The contracts are to be made with the understanding that the general construction be completed in 10 months from the date of contract. A certified check amounting to 5 per cent of the contract price will be required of each contractor submitting bids and the one to whom the contracts are let will then turn in the regular bond.

At the meeting there was some discussion of having the board of education meet in the evening at the home of the architect, Mr. J. H. Brown, at 1000 North Washington street, on the next Monday night, to discuss the plans for the Junior High school. The matter was left open until the next meeting.

GUARANTEE BOND

The resolution regarding the bond was as follows: Resolved, That the bids for the building of the Junior High school be made on the basis of a guarantee bond to be furnished by the contractor in the sum of $10,000, equal to 5 per cent of the bid, payable to the board of education as guarantee that if his bid is accepted, he will execute and file the proper contract and bond within the time limit.

EMPLOYEES FIRED IF THEY DON'T SAVE

In regard to the time, the resolution reads: Resolved, That the time within which bids will be received for the construction of the Junior High school be limited to the 10th day of November, 1923 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and that all bids shall be on file at the office of the board of education at the high school not later than that day and hour.

The one regarding the length of time for execution was as follows: That the general contract or contracts for the erection of Junior High school provide for the completion of the general construction within ten months of the date of said contract or contracts.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign Ends In Excitement

SETTLE REPLEVIN SUIT AFTER JURY HEARS TESTIMONY

The second annual mayoralty campaign of the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. came to a noisy close Thursday evening with a parade through the business streets and speeches at the Y. M. C. A. The parade lacked the numbers of the one put on last year but made up for it in enthusiasm and racket.

After the parade, talks were given by Lawrence Bohon and Carl Engler, campaign manager and candidate of Everybody's party. Members of the Y. M. C. A. sang the new "Y" song entitled "Y. M. C. A. Mayor Fin" after then briefly surveyed the record of the administration and delivered a powerful talk for the Reliable party.

This gave the Reliabilities a chance to open up which they did by producing their candidate, Homer Williams. At the conclusion of Williams' talk two Reliabilities came out with a big bag of apples and a merry scramble wound up the evening.

Both sides are confident of victory. The H.T. boys put on a strenuous and well organized campaign and wound it up in royal fashion. The Reliabilities base their hopes on the personal popularity of their leader as well as their good record of the past year.

Officials of the Y. M. C. A. are well pleased with the spirit shown by both parties and hope to see it expressed by a big vote Friday. The activity engendered by the campaign was well worth while but the big value of the whole thing was the educational feature.

It is hoped that such work will bring home to the boys a sense of civic responsibility and a desire to do their duty as citizens, to the Y. M. C. A., now, and to city, state, and country later.

Settlement has been effected between the parties to the action of P. A. Kornely of Appleton against Edward and Margaret Beckman of the town of Center. This was the turn of events after considerable testimony had been taken on Thursday before a jury of 12 men in circuit court.

Mr. Kornely had begun action to replevin horses, cows, poultry, machinery, implements and other personal property which he claimed and which he said was being held by the defendants in the case. The chattels were valued at $2,000. The plaintiff asked for a judgment of delivery of the personal property and for damages in the sum of $200. Mr. Kornely was represented by Bradford & Bradford.

In denying Mr. Kornely's claim to the personal property, the defendants based their answer upon an exchange of properties, namely the Glabe hotel of Brillion for the farm on which the personal property is located. Breach of contract on the part of the plaintiff was intimated by the defendant's counsel, Keller & Keller. In their counterclaim for damages they asked $1,000.

The stipulations of the settlement were not disclosed, but Mr. and Mrs. Beckman will retain possession of the personal property in question.

George P. McGillan, chief of the fire department, is to speak briefly on "Fire Prevention and Fire Waste" in connection with the national fire prevention week.

Another short talk will be given by a representative of the Wisconsin Prisoners' exposition in Milwaukee in December, according to a telephone message received from E. C. Porter, managing director of the exposition.

Chamber of commerce members welcomed announcements of the Malloch dinner on the next Monday morning and a flood of reservations is expected Saturday. The capacity of the dining room is limited to 200.

Abilene, Kas. — Save or get out! This is the belled down substance of a unique short plan for employees operating under supervision of Clayton L. Brown, head of the United Light, Power and Telephone Co. here.

He compels his workers to save at least 10 per cent of their wages in safety chartered investments that bring an equitable cash return.

During the first year of the plan's inauguration, employees of Brown's companies saved away more than $225,000 of their wages distributed over a variety of reliable stocks, including a 50 per cent. voluntary investment of the plan in their own employing industries.

Brown adopted the system after research proved that large numbers of his workers were losing in efficiency because they were in debt or spent more than they earned.

To counteract this evil, the potion of savings director was established in the plants, and now no employee can continue drawing his salary unless he presents bona fide evidence that he has saved at least 10 per cent of the previous week's wages.

Under the new ruling, sums applied toward getting out of debt count as savings. So does money applied as a sinking fund against the principal of a debt on a home.

Sums invested in motor cars, phonographs and home chests, or anything else which brings no cash return, are not recognized.

As originator of the scheme, Brown has accomplished much in the way of thrift himself. When just off the farm in the early 90's he inherited an old water mill near this city and merged it with Abilene's then decrepit light system into a modern marvel of efficiency.

Readers of the Post-Crescent are invited to obtain free tickets for this attraction by contributing to I Spied Today. GENEROUS BUT DANGEROUS

I was going along on the west end of College-ave. and I saw a small boy giving three friends a ride on his bicycle. One was perched on the carrier behind, another on the handle bars and a third on the crossbar.

BUY ME A GALLON, TOO

A display of furniture polish ordinarily does not attract the attention of passers-by, but when a bottle with its cork blown off is spied in a window, then it becomes magnetic. If a long line of co-consumers is seen at Geenen's this week, you'll know why.

EVERYBODY SMOKES NOW

About 4:30 Wednesday afternoon, I noticed a little boy about seven years of age on his way home from school. Somewhere on the way he had found a cigarette, and was busily smoking it. Suddenly he noticed a man, who apparently was someone he knew. He placed the cigarette carefully on the edge of the sidewalk, and walked along slowly until the man had passed him. Then he walked back, picked up his smoke and marched happily along with the cigarette in his mouth.

Atherton's Newest Book Called Unfit To Read

"Black Oxen," Gertrude Atherton novel is creating as much of a furor here as it is in the east. It has been taken up by the various clubs and is in a great demand at Appleton public library. Because of the protest of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, Mayor Vanseandt of Rochester, N. Y., has ordered the book off the shelves of the public libraries in Rochester. Miss Florence Day, local librarian, said the act is justifiable, because the book is not fit to have a wide circulation. According to Miss Day, "Black Oxen" is not up to the authoress' usual high standard. It seems to be merely hackwork and not worthy of Mrs. Atherton.

So many new books come into the library that it leads one to question as to why they have to be gay covers that are flamed in the book store. The new books at the library have a durable covering of heavy dark-colored material. The books are received at the library bound this way and are not rebound as so many patrons think. A book with the ordinary binding could only be circulated about seven or eight times, but with this binding they can change hands 64 times.

INSTALL LIGHTS AT BUSY DOWNTOWN INTERSECTIONS

Are lights have been installed in the last three of four days at the intersection of Appleton's and College-ave and at Oneida-st and College-ave. This was done because lightning is insufficient at these corners and traffic officers are in constant danger because they cannot be easily seen.

Whether the boy scouts council of Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Appleton will be continued the coming year will be decided at a meeting of representatives of the cities named at Hotel Appleton Friday evening following a supper at 4:30.

The financial burden is such that the work can be carried on only by the four cities cooperating and whether it will be continued will depend on the action of the neighboring cities.

The work has been at a standstill since the resignation of H. P. Buck, scoutmaster, and the council is practically without funds. If it remains its work a new scoutmaster will be selected and means will be provided for financing the work.

LIFE TOO CHEAP IN AMERICA

Statistics of mining in Illinois indicate that approximately one human life has been sacrificed for every 300,000 tons of coal produced in the last fifteen years. In railroad and other hazardous occupations many lives are lost. Aviation has taken a heavy toll. It may be true, as some assert, that we are so hardened commercially that occupational killings are not taken seriously, but it would be a mistake to assume that this indifference is entirely mercenary.

In Chicago upwards of 500 lives were taken in one year by reckless or careless automobile driving. The killings go on at the rate of almost two per day and little is done to prevent them. Similar conditions obtain in other large cities. The total death toll from the automobile in the United States annually runs far into the thousands. Practically every death is preventable and they all occur primarily because of traffic and the use of the automobile are not properly regulated or because regulations are not thoroughly enforced.

Thousands of lives of infants are sacrificed each year because of public indifference. Life is held entirely too cheaply. That is one reason why we have so many murders and so much crime throughout the country. The whole picture presents a sorry and depressing spectacle, and is a problem that we as individuals and as a nation ought to take to heart.

BRANCH BANKS AND FEDERAL RESERVE

Most of the small banks in the United States are opposed to the branch banking system. Why? Because, principally, they fear inability to compete with large banks. By vote the American Bankers' association, composed mostly of small banks, went on record against branch banking. The public is antagonistic to establishment of branches, because it fears that a few large institutions might control the nation's money power.

Nevertheless, branch banking has developed to a greater extent in America than we suppose. Many of the states permit it, and in these states national banks operate at disadvantage. Comptroller of the Currency Dawes thinks that branch banking, unless curbed, will destroy the Federal Reserve system and build up a private reserve system. He says the Federal Reserve board should have authority to regulate the situation in different localities by allowing a number of branches or forbidding the starting of more. Governor Cressenger of the Federal Reserve board declares that banks are withdrawing from the reserve system and derationalizing in order to run branches.

All of this testimony means what? That the federal and state governments should determine the question finally at once. Either branch banking should not be allowed, or, if allowed, it should be regulated.

SAILING THROUGH SPACE

Orville Wright thinks that the airship will not be an offensive vehicle in the city. It is not suited to places in which the population is dense. The proper sphere of the development of aviation is speedy and long-distance transportation. No one can predict what the perfected airship will be. Discovery of unknown physical laws may enable the building of small aerial carriages, adapted to almost any sort of short-distance travel. But present knowledge and demonstration bear out his belief that the airplane cannot be operated among buildings, or where there are many people.

He comments with disappointment on our delay in promoting long-distance transportation. He had thought in the early days of the airplane, that many people would turn to it as a sporting vehicle. The heavier-than-air vehicle, the airplane, is the safer and surer means of aerial voyaging. Although we made the airplane practical, Europe has mastered this utility and convenience ahead of us and is operating many passenger crafts, which are well patronized. Our enterprising capitalists need to forget about the cumbersome dirigible and to concentrate their attention on the airplane as a commercial common carrier.

THE JOB-HOLDER

With one eye on his work and the other on the clock as its hands approached quitting time, a clerk in the office of a Philadelphia contractor made an error in an estimate which was not detected until a contract had been made, involving the firm in a loss of $150,000.

The clock-watching clerk gave the excuse that he was only half-paid. But results show that, though only half-paid, he was over-paid. One eye is not half as good as two eyes. Half a mind is not half as good as an undivided mind. Half pay is too much for half a man.

It is not only the errors which cause direct losses that count; but even more costly still, in the long run, are the frequent little errors that call for constant supervision of a man's work. The listless worker wastes more than his own time; he wastes a lot of the more valuable time of the man above him, who, in order to make good his deficiencies, has to keep a watchful eye on all his work. A careless, inefficient worker may actually cause more work to others than he himself accomplishes.

PAPYRUS AND ENGLISH FAITH

Six hundred or more members of the English gentry and devotees of sport are to come to the United States on an excursion to witness the race between Papyrus, their derby winner, and the American Zev. They will return home forthwith after the race is run.

These gentlemen and their friends, though believing that Papyrus is the best horse in the world; are not waging their pounds sterling against Zev. They explain that Papyrus is not likely to be in condition after the ocean voyage and change of climate, and that the track and environment are new to him.

This illustrates the difference between sentiment and sense. Papyrus' admirers believe that the derby winner is unbeatable, all things being equal. This is sentiment. All things not being equal, from their viewpoint, their faith is just as strong but they refrain from taking chances with their money. This is sense.

DRINKING IN ENGLAND

Figures recently made public by the British government showing a reduction in the amount of drunkenness in England and Wales are favorable to those who believe in the ultimate success of the dry movement.

During 1922 there was a decrease in the number of convictions for drunkenness in England and Wales of 1.53 per cent. This decrease was noted despite the fact that in the city of London there was a considerable increase in the number of people arrested for being under the influence of liquor.

The significant thing which accompanied this decrease in drinking was a generally improved economic condition of the country. During this period in which lessened arrests for drunkenness were noted there was a great increase in the value of goods exported, increased railway traffic, and virtually stationary unemployment figures. Decreased losses by strikes were also observed.

These are all things that denote general prosperity, or, at least, a trend toward general prosperity. Critics of prohibition may assert that there is no relation between abstinence and improvement in the condition of the people of a country. Facts, however, seem to show the inaccuracy of their reasoning.

RELIEF TO NEURALGIA

The main point of our talk about neuralgia of the head the other day was that there is always a local cause for the trouble, whether or not general conditions have a bearing. To ascribe a facial neuralgia to cold, fatigue, nerve exhaustion, draft, ure acid, rheumatism, anemia or any other general cause is to shut your eyes to the main point and suffer.

A nerve doesn't start aching on general principles but only when something is troubling it particularly. It is like babies; they don't cry for medicine, but because there's a wet ditty or a pin pricking somewhere. Some people prefer to pour castor oil or colic "dope" into the baby; others put a dry ditty on or search for the pin or mosquito or put the child on bed sugar. Some of you, however, are content to suffer from halcyonism of pain long after the actual neuralgia has ceased, in such cases an injection is particularly effective. We haven't space here to ponder the difference between actual pain and the memory of pain, but some of us are so constituted that we take great pleasure in remembering exactly how a pain felt and in feeling it as long as we can just to keep in practice and get sympathy.

Among the medicines commonly administered for the relief of the pain of neuralgia are the salicylates including acetylsalicylic acid, antipyrin, phenacetin, acetaminophen and several other coarser derivatives. A dose of 30 grains of sodium bromide dissolved in a half glassful of water, sometimes proves sufficient relief for an attack of neuralgia, but such a drug should not be taken for more than two or three times.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Worm Remedy

Please advise me about a remedy for worms. Our two children have all the symptoms.—Mrs. S. E. Answer—I should advise you not to administer any medicine under your physician's direction, because every remedy which is really helpful in ridding the host of the parasites is more or less dangerous in the hands of unskilled persons. "All the symptoms" as a general rule, do not signify that the individual has worms. Thousands of children are malnourished with alleged worms, and which seem to be more soluble in cold water than in hot water; and hence it is brought out by letting the freshly ground coffee stand with cold water some time before heating. Excessive heating merely volatilizes the flavor, giving that fine aroma in the air—but why waste such a delightful aroma on the air? Boiling dissipates the fine flavor and gives a bitter flavor.

On Getting Up Glad In The Morning
Kindly enlighten me on the following subject: Is there any harm in making coffee in this manner—every night before going to bed we put our coffee and coffee in the pot and let it stand cold in the morning we let it come to a boil and drink it for breakfast; it tastes good, but is it harmful?—Mrs. R. J.
Answer—I think your method is nearly ideal, except that the coffee should not quite boil in the morning. The desired flavor in coffee is something which seems to be more soluble in cold water than in hot water; and hence it is brought out by letting the freshly ground coffee stand with cold water some time before heating. Excessive heating merely volatilizes the flavor, giving that fine aroma in the air—but why waste such a delightful aroma on the air? Boiling dissipates the fine flavor and gives a bitter flavor.

ROLLO.

British Rulers Were Golfers 100 Years Ago

(Dr. Doetty, in Velhagen und Kiasing Monatshefte, Berlin.)

People talk of a golf mania in England and America. More than 120,000 golf players are supposed to live in London and about 500,000 of them in England and Scotland.

Golf is not a game which fascinates at once. After you have had only the first, fugitive impression of golf, you will hardly understand why it is called the "royal game." However, as soon as you begin to learn its secrets and subtleties and when your own skill develops, you will know why this game has conquered thousands, millions of hearts in Great Britain, the United States and on the European continent.

Like tennis and football, golf is a game which has come down to us from the middle ages. It is a historical fact that the Scotch parliament, in 1475, issued a decree prohibiting golf because the game kept people from practicing shooting and other military arts with which they might defend their country.

"Golf and future-hall be utterly cryt down and mocht unit," said the decree. Nevertheless, the king of Scotland, James IV, as well as his successor and the English ruler of the same period, were enthusiastic golf players. Jacob I was the first English king who played the royal game. He hit the ball with a golden club. This king is reported to have founded the famous and exclusive Black Heath Golf club which still exists. Jacob II, Jacob V and Charles I were passionately fond of golf.

Even Mary, queen of Scots, preferred golf to any other game. King Charles I, too, was an ardent golf lover. While playing on the links near Leith, in 1642, he received the news of the Irish rebellion. The story goes that the king did not interrupt his game, but finished it before he paid attention to Irish affairs.

For playing golf on Sunday, several persons were punished in Edinburgh in the year 1583.

The paintings of old Holland give the best proof that golf was a favorite game in medieval times. Rembrandt, the greatest of Dutch painters, must have known the game, for he sketched golf players now and then. In Holland the game was called "kolf" and the clubs which the Dutchmen used were very similar to ours.

Golf balls of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries were made of leather and called "with feathers." They were called "featheries." A very exact game was not possible with such crude equipment. The first hard rubber golf balls were made in 1848. They were smooth and not indented as are the modern balls.

"Old Willie" Dunn, the famous Scotch player, invented the modern golf ball. After he had thrown away a ball which the blows of iron-clad clubs had provided with an indented surface he noticed that one of his caddies was making admirable drives with it. Dunn had rubber balls with indented surface manufactured and found them excellent. This type of ball has been in use for about 35 years.

And golf, the royal ball game, now

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

has become a favorite. Golf is played at the foot of the pyramids as well as before the walls of Pekin, in the Sandwich islands, in Calcutta and on the well-kept links of fashionable clubs in Nice and Cannes.

The most beautiful golf links of the world are found, I believe, in Ceylon, in Nuvara-Eliya, in the mountains of the island. The town is 4,000 feet above the sea level and is a summer resort for Europeans who live in the cities of Ceylon. Nuvara Eliya is a golf town. Not only the Europeans, but the natives as well play the game with passion. The golf links stretch over the entire town. Here and there one plays from a hill over the streets and the low bungalows of the natives. At such places the signals are roofed with a wire net.

The links, of course, belong to the Europeans; but the natives play on roads and meadows outside the links, and they play with admirable skill and technique. When I saw the brown Hindus play I began to realize that it must be truly a royal game which is able to fascinate men of any age, any creed and any color.

London errand-boys have been the subject of an inquiry which shows that 33 per cent enter low-skilled trades, 10 per cent become shopmen, 13 per cent enter the skilled trades, 4 per cent join the army, and 2 per cent the navy. The proportion in the United States is believed to be about the same.

Q. Did Woodrow Wilson pay income tax while he was President? A. B.

Q. A. The President of the United States was exempt from paying income tax under the Revenue Act of 1917. Under the Revenue Acts of 1913 and 1921 he was not exempt from the payment of income tax. He is taxed on his income from outside sources as well as on his salary.

Q. Where will the eclipse of the sun in 1926 be total? A. P.

Q. What are the causes for divorce according to the Capper Bill to be presented at the next Congress? C. C. E.

A. The causes for divorce, as standardized, would be adultery, cruelty and inhuman treatment, abandonment or failure to provide for one year or more, incurable insanity, and conviction of infamous crime. The bill also provides that one year must elapse after the granting of a divorce before remarriage.

Q. When will the next World's Fair be held? E. E. H.

A. It will be held in Philadelphia in 1926.

Q. How long are college vacations in England? W. R.

A. In an article contrasting English and American Universities, William A. Robson says, "Between five and six months of the year are vacation in most English universities and these long periods provide the undergraduate with what are in many cases the most valuable of all his opportunities for the process of intellectual assimilation and development. He is expected to work during vacation."

GRID SQUAD READY FOR BATTLE WITH SHAWANO ELEVEN

Two Football Games Will Be Feature Of High School Homecoming

Kaukauna—The high school football squad is all primed to annex its second victory of the season when it plays Shawano high school eleven Saturday afternoon on the local grounds as part of the high school homecoming celebration. The preliminary game between Menasha first team and the local second string met will begin at 1:30.

For the regular game Kaukauna's lineup probably will be little different from that of last Saturday when Coach McGrath's boys rubbed West DePere 15 to 0. Glen Miller will pilot the team from the quarterback position. The backfield will be chosen from the following: Hale, Dix, Smith, VanAble, Ditter. Others who probably will get into the fracas are Jacob, Howds, center; McCarty and Kilgas, tackles; Wendt and Licht, guards; Beyer and St. Mitchell, ends. St. Mitchell is nursing an injury he received last week but will be in shape to take his regular position.

The largest crowd of the season is expected to attend the double bill. The homecoming program is expected to draw many alumni who will also witness the tilt. All high school students and others interested are scheduled to meet at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the city auditorium from where they will parade to the grounds.

REGISTRATION IN NIGHT CLASSES IS GROWING RAPIDLY

Five Classes in Sewing Have Been Formed To Take Care Of Enrollment

Kaukauna—Registration for evening school classes of Kaukauna Vocational school continue to swell the enrollment. More than 150 persons are now taking advantage of the opportunity to better their education, along definite lines of work. As was the case from the beginning, there is a demand for sewing instruction. 50 persons have enrolled in those classes.

The class in typewriting also has increased but as yet no instruction is being offered. Lighting fixtures are being installed in the new high school now and it is expected the vocational school will be able to announce the beginning of its typewriting classes by the first of next week.

Eight persons have enrolled in bookkeeping while nine wish to take up shorthand. A. T. Hudson, vocational director, still is unable to furnish instruction in machine drawing or millinery, as only three persons have registered in each class. Those who desired to study millinery, however, consented to take sewing. A class in machine shop practice will be formed as seven persons are interested in the work. The class in cabinetmaking has 12 students.

The 50 students in sewing have been divided into five classes. Two classes consisting of 13 and 14 members meet on Monday evening. The Monday evening classes have been divided in order to provide room for other possible registrants in the near future. A class of 27 persons meets on Tuesday evening. On Wednesday afternoon a class of 13 persons receive instruction while 20 more are taught in the evening. All classes are in the vocational school quarters in the municipal building.

BLAME SORCERY FOR ILLS
Fear of sorcery is one of the greatest difficulties encountered in efforts to preserve the health of native miners in Papua.

So widespread is the fear that it was necessary to engage European cooks, whom the natives acquired of their desire to practice the black arts.

The men, however, insisted on their ordinary rations being supplemented by wallaby and wild pig. All sickness was ascribed to sorcery, and the natives preferred a witch doctor to the official doctor.

"BLACK FACE" 81 YEARS OLD

Black-face minstrels have held the popular fancy for 84 years and theater wiseaces say they are returning to greater popular favor than has been the case for a few years.

There is a significance in the fact that ever since 1840 when the first crude minstrel production found its way to the stage, the opening scene or "first part," has been practically the same.

Coast Claims Longest Paved Road In World

Californians have another achievement to boast about. Not only they, but all who live along the west coast.

It is Pacificave, running the whole length of the Pacific coast and beyond, from Canada to Mexico. It is the longest paved street in the world, says the proud inhabitants along it. It is 1476 miles long, and 6,525,921 persons—yes, they have been counted—live along its meandering way.

The traveler may, if he wishes, gamble at one end—Tia Juana—and drink without restraint at the other—Vancouver.

The road, mostly of concrete, leads him from the Golden City of Oil and Movies to San Francisco and on over thousands of acres of California plains, up into the Sierran mountains, past beautiful Mt. Shasta, close to Crater Lake, the Oregon Caves, Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver.

On the trip he can see everything and get thrills galore. Clanging cable cars, oil wells, the ocean, movie stars, mountains, a volcano, a marvelous blue lake on top of a mountain, wild animals, Mt. Hood, the Oregon beaches, salmon, the rose festival, Seattle potlatch, big trees, hills, waterfalls, rivers—and all forms a ribbon as smooth as mother's kitchen floor.

Flashes Out Of The Air

Cleveland—One of the outstanding difficulties experienced while listening in on the regular run of broadcasting stations may be eliminated by an innovation here.

The difficulty is the interference in the form of an incessant hum from the motor generators that develop the power to transmit the radio programs.

The innovation is the substitution of battery for motor generator as direct source of transmitting power. It is the work of the Willard Storage Battery Company which has begun transmitting from its own broadcast station, WTAM, every Wednesday and Saturday night. Its wave length is 390 meters.

Noiseless, steady, vacuum tube operation is what radio engineers have considered ideal for radio transmission. And battery current, the Willard engineers say, is the kind that meets this ideal. It is a pure direct current generated by Chemical, not mechanical action. The result, they add, is elimination of a steady hum, and a more clearly broadcast program.

GREATER EFFICIENCY
At the same time, the use of choke coils and filter condensers is obviated. They cut down the efficiency of operation explain the Willard engineers, by consuming much power and wasting more in overcoming resistance.

With its resultant advantages therefore, WTAM has started sending its wave out into the air, and letters from listeners have been coming in commending on the clarity of the concert.

The station has an output of 1,000 watts, making it one of the largest broadcasting stations in the country. The power source consists of a battery of 1,250 cells of two volts each and a capacity of 15 amperes.

Broadcasting, however, is done only on 1,000 volts, and only 1,000 cells are in use at one time.

12-HOUR SUPPLY
Charging is effected through the regular 110-volt lighting system, at a normal charging rate of one ampere. Fully charged, the battery will operate the broadcasting station for 12 continuous hours, before recharging is necessary.

Besides having this peculiar advantage of battery transmission, WTAM boasts ideal location, far from electric car lines, away from noisy mechanical apparatus and eight miles from the business center of Cleveland.

Its aerial stretches between two 140-foot towers 100 feet apart, and consists of two six-wire cage antennas joined by the lead-in.

The counterpoise consists of 12 250-foot lengths of wire five feet apart, set 12 feet above the ground.

SECRET RADIO SOON
Tests of a system of secret radio telephony have been so successful of late, that it may be expected in popular use shortly. Recent tests were made between Los Angeles and Kauai Island, 30 miles off the California coast.

QTR TUBES BETTER
European vacuum tubes cost less but engineers in America say our tubes are better in the long run. Their performance is more uniform and more powerful, is the claim.

REDS ISSUE MILLIONS OF PROPAGANDA BOOKS
By Associated Press
Bucharest—Figures received here summarizing the activities of the publishing business in Russia which is purely an enterprise of the Soviet state, indicate that a great effort is being made to convince the Russian people of the correctness of Bolshevik political, social and economic theories.

The Soviet publishing house issued from its presses in Moscow and put into circulation throughout Russia during the last 12 months no less than 14,500,000 volumes covering the fields of economics, politics, history and even fiction.

Aside from the obvious propaganda tendencies of the volumes of political and economic subjects, the Soviet historians have sought to show how the world has suffered because of its hostility to Bolshevik doctrines, and in many of the fiction volumes the endeavor has been to prove that opposition to Soviet doctrines has warped, limited or distorted individual lives.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by visiting at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't say gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. adv.

ARRANGE SERIES OF MEETINGS TO BATTLE PLAGUE

Pictures And Lectures To Feature Gatherings In Kaukauna And Vandenbrook

A series of meetings have been arranged by Robert A. Amundsen, county agricultural agent, and local committees in the towns of Kaukauna and Vandenbrook to acquaint the people with typhoid fever and its eradication.

Dr. A. J. Knillans from the National Live Stock exchange will be the principal speaker. Dr. Knillans through his connections with the various stock yards has had years of experience with all forms of tuberculosis in hogs and cattle.

Specimens of tubercular parts of cattle and hogs will be shown. Dr. Knillans also will present motion pictures showing tuberculosis in cattle and hogs, how the tests are made and how the testing cattle are handled after they show signs of infection.

LOSS IN PIGS

Through the infection of milk there is a considerable loss to farmers of the milk producing sections of Wisconsin by tuberculosis in hogs which are fed on unpasteurized by-products of creameries and cheese factories. As much as 30 per cent of all hogs slaughtered from these sections show signs of developing tuberculosis when slaughtered, according to Mr. Amundsen.

It is now possible, he says, to have all the cattle in this county tested without cost to the owner will full value paid for any that may react. This also will be explained at the meeting.

The schedule is as follows: Wednesday evening, Oct. 17—Town hall of Kaukauna, the members of the committee being James Farrell, A. A. Lempke, Gordon McDaniel.

Thursday evening, Oct. 18—Kaukauna high school auditorium. Committee—J. F. Cavanaugh, John McCoy and William Rohan.

Friday evening, Oct. 19—Schoonmaker's hall, Freedom. Committee—Joan Schommer, Oswald Breitung, Joseph Burns, Charles Radatz, Albert Sievert, Bert McCann, George Bohl, Barney Southen, J. McHugh and John Schuh.

Saturday evening, Oct. 20—Little Chute theater. Committee—John Connen—J. H. Lamers, Henry Hietpas and Anton Jansen.

All of the meetings are free to the public including women and children. The upper grades of the schools are asked by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, to attend wherever possible.

ON THE SCREEN

TULLY'S PRODUCTION OF "TRILBY" A MASTERPIECE

The significance of Du Maurier's "Trilby" as one of the greatest romances of all time prompted keen anticipation on the part of this reviewer, when it was made known that Richard Walton Tully, himself perhaps the foremost of our contemporary playwright-producers, had dedicated himself to the task of immortalizing it on the screen as a First National attraction. Thus it was that we visited the Elita last evening, prepared to witness a masterly production.

We were not disappointed. Almost at the outset, we realized that "Trilby" had been brought to life, its fascinating characters made real. A Trilby adorable in form and feature, adorable in the odd contradictions of her nature, stood before us. A Svengali who coincided with our mental image, that sinister vagabond must, clenching his long, thin fingers, deftly planted in memory by Du Maurier's word paintings, wore his spells—not only on the heroine, we opine, but on spectators as well. Here is finished artistry. A "Little Billie" whose sensitiveness vibrated from the screen: a bluff Taffy, a lovable Laird—and so it goes through the gamut of characters—realism. "Trilby" is a romantic story which has charmed readers for a decade. It was in the early nineties, not one of the "six best sellers," but the one best—it was a furore, a sensation. While the younger generation may be less familiar with it, we wonder if they will not, for that reason, be more firmly gripped by its suspense, its change of moods, its altogether unsuspected ending. We refrain from a sketch of the plot for that reason, but commending the picture equally to those who have read the novel and those who have not. "Trilby" is indeed worthwhile.

A DRAMA WITH THE HEART THROBS AND PUNCH

When a picture holds your interest from the first fade-in to the last fade-out, not once boring you, it's a good picture. That is why "Nine Points of the Law," featuring Helen Gibson and Edward Coker, will prove real entertainment at the New Bijou today and Saturday.

The plot is an interesting and novel one from start to finish, telling of the manifold problems of a young girl, Charlie Dubois, alone in a mining town in the early days of the west.

Miss Gibson, as Charlie, is easy to look upon, and a finished actress. Edward Coker gives some of the finest acting in his long screen career.

There are thrills galore, with romance, mystery and love. What more could one ask in a motion picture? The playgoer is certain to enjoy pleasant evening when he sees "Nine Points of the Law," now playing at the New Bijou.

1,000 Tourists A Week At Free Camp Site In Summer

Merkel's Report Will Refute "Riff-Raff" Charges Of Western Man

That tourists camps are not patronized mainly by the riff-raff of society was charged recently by a western man who said they were a menace to the country will be shown by a report soon to be submitted to the chamber of commerce by George Merkel, caretaker of the local park.

On the contrary, the caretaker says the great majority of tourists are professional and business people among whom are a great number of doctors, lawyers and judges as is shown by the cards he required them to fill out.

A very complete record of the tourists was kept this year for the first time. They were not only required to give their name, profession, or business, city and state they represented but also the approximate amount of money they spent while in the city, make of car, number of people in their party and date of arrival and departure.

While the season was at its height the average number of tourists that visited Albia park was near 1000 a week. The highest number of camping parties that pitched their tents any one night was 41. The average number in each party was four. In going out the cards the tourists were invited to make any comment about the park and city they saw fit and many compliments and valuable suggestions were the result.

The park is still in constant use by tourists on their way home and hunters on their way to the northern woods and lakes. So far there has been only one night when the park has not been in use. As a usual thing from a half dozen to a dozen parties are scattered about the grounds.

1,000 FUR FARMS IN CANADA

The total number of fur farms in Canada last year was 1,009. Of this number 590 were fox farms, 17 raccoon, 13 mink, three skunk, one marten, one fisher, four karakul sheep, five beaver and five muskrat farms. There was an increase over 1921 of 151 fox farms and 12 miscellaneous fur-bearing animal farms.

EXHIBIT TO SHOW MAKING OF PAPER

Entire Process Will Be Revealed At Milwaukee Products Exposition

Paper and pulp industry displays at the Wisconsin Products exposition Dec. 1 to 8 in Milwaukee will be in Mechanics hall, according to official announcement now in possession of the chamber of commerce, outlining the method of exhibit, arranged for displays, choice of booths and other data.

The entire section under the main entrance of the hall is to be given over to the paper industry. This will make it possible to show the process of paper making from the pulpwood stage to finished paper. A section of the hall also will be devoted to displays of machinery for paper and pulp manufacture. Textile and woolen goods will be shown in Solomon Juneau hall.

Invitations will be extended to other state through governors, to attend the exposition and $10,000 will be expended for publicity purposes. Accredited representatives to foreign countries in Washington will be invited so they can inform themselves concerning Wisconsin and the products it has to market.

Entertainment this year will consist chiefly of historical spectacles presented daily in pageant form. Meetings will be arranged for the morning.

CLARION OBSERVES 25TH ANNIVERSARY

The first issue of the Clarion, Appleton high school monthly magazine, which has been dedicated this month to commemorate the landing of Christopher Columbus was to be distributed Friday afternoon. Because the magazine is making a point of coming out on the scheduled date it will be given the students even though there is no school on Friday.

This is the twenty-fifth year of the Clarion magazine. Throughout the anniversary year, greater attention will be given to the doings of the alumni of the school. A section will appear each month giving extracts from early issues of the book.

A letter was received on Thursday from the Waukegan Township School for discussion of practical problems both of agriculture and industry. A number of conventions are planned for the same period.

ondary schools asking for copies of the Clarion annual. The writer said that he was attempting to get samples of annuals from the foremost schools in the state and wished to include the Appleton magazine. Another letter was received recently from Senn high school in Chicago asking how the magazine was able to maintain so high a literary standard in its articles. The Senn school received first All-American prize recently for its own publication.

What Motorists From Other States Remember

To thousands of Wisconsin visitors the pleasures of a tour in this most beautiful and best roaded of states is intensified by a further satisfaction. They remember it for its lakes, for its varied scenic charm, for its highway system—and not least, for the motor fuel that is better than these motorists can get at home.

The territory served by

is one of the very few remaining districts in the United States where genuine, straight-run gasoline is even obtainable—outside of drug stores.

Here it is the recognized staple motor fuel of the community, consumed in greater quantities than any other brand—outselling because it deserves to outsell.

This is a condition not paralleled elsewhere during this day of almost universal motor fuel degeneracy.

CIRCULATION OVER A MILLION

Wisconsin Still Leading Cheese Producing State

Nearly 75 Per Cent Of All The Cheese Made In U. S. Manufactured Here

The supremacy of Wisconsin in the manufacture of cheese is emphasized in a study made by the butter and cheese markets of New York by Charles F. Junod, vice president of The Bank of America, that city.

The monograph, which has just been issued in pamphlet form, points out that in 1914 Wisconsin produced 55.8 per cent of all the cheese manufactured in the United States, New York 25.9 per cent, and all other states 18.3 per cent, while by 1920 the percentage made in Wisconsin had increased to 74.6 and that of New York was only 12.0, while other states were making but 13.4 per cent of the nation's total.

35 CENTS TOP PRICE

Despite this fact, New York state leads in shipments of cheese to the metropolitan market and its cheese commands a slightly higher price. Last year Wisconsin shipped 16,100,393 pounds to New York city, while 21,769,894 came from New York state. The lowest price per pound that cheese has reached in New York since 1910 was in May and June of 1911, when it sold for 11 cents a pound. The highest price recorded was in December, 1918, and January, 1919, when cheese brought 35 cents a pound.

"It is generally conceded," the study says, "that the finest cheese is made in June and September. It is said to be extremely difficult to make the highest grade of cheese in cold weather, as the product does not cure properly. However, in steam heated factories, this handicap is largely overcome. Consumption of cheese is highest during Lent."

Wisconsin also plays an important part in New York's butter market. It ranks fifth last year in the number of pounds of butter shipped to the metropolis, contributing 12,503,387 pounds out of a total of 241,604,065. In this respect it was exceeded only by Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois and Nebraska.

"An enormous sum is involved in the annual turnover of butter and cheese in New York city," the study says. "In 1922 the 241,604,065 pounds of butter received in the metropolis at the average price for the year of 40.7 cents per pound, would involve $98,322,845.45. However, the sum would not actually quite reach this figure as a large part of the butter received is not of ninety-two score,

URGE MORE CONCRETE ON ROAD TO STEVENS POINT

A permanent concrete highway between Waupaca and Stevens Point on state trunk highway 13 which passes through Appleton is urged by the Waupaca County News. Attorney L. D. Smith of Waupaca is quoted as saying that the road is the worst he ever wants to drive on. T. E. Caudy, county highway commissioner of Stevens Point, replied that Waupaca has poorer roads on highway 13 than Portage.

"The News will admit that 13 is bad—it is rotten in both counties," says the Waupaca paper. It is now time for the counties to take united action toward making this a permanent concrete highway between Waupaca and Stevens Point."

Practically all of highway 13 in Outagamie co. is now concrete. The only strip of the Waupaca-Appleton road not yet paved is that between Fremont and Dale.

The standard chosen for purpose of computing the average price.

"In the case of cheese 50,109,128 pounds were received here which, at an average price of 21.5 cents per pound, would amount to $10,773,492.82. It is not difficult to appreciate, therefore, the importance of the metropolitan market to the butter and cheese industry in general and to the vast sections of the country where these two products are important factors in agricultural prosperity and economic life."

STATE JOB EXAMS TO BE HELD NOV. 3

A preliminary examination for admission to the United States military academy at West Point will be held at selected centers throughout the state on Saturday, Nov. 3. Application is to be made to the Wisconsin Civil Service commission at Madison.

Senator LaFollette will nominate successful candidates from the state-at-large to fill one vacancy. The candidates named will be authorized to compete in the final examination for entrance to the academy.

At the time of entrance to West Point applicants from the state-at-large must be between 17 and 22 years of age, must be citizens of the United States, must be between 19 and 32 years. The subjects for examination include quadratic equations, plane geometry, English grammar and composition, and general and United States history.

PSYCHOLOGIST TALKS TO WOMEN'S CLUBS CONCLAVE

By Associated Press

Fond du Lac—Dr. Smiley Blanton, psychologist of the University of Wisconsin pointed out to the Wisconsin Women's Federation clubs in session here that there are 1,000,000 people a year who suffer from nervous breakdown and almost one half the cases are due to emotional difficulties which could have been averted by proper training during childhood.

At the morning session Thursday Mrs. Henry M. Youmans, Waukegan, chairman of the citizenship committee, stressed the need of education that results in an intelligent electorate.

Other department chairmen who gave reports were: Mrs. Louis Kahlburg; Mrs. Paul Helene, and Mrs. R. C. Buchanan.

RIFLE SHOT PERILS WOMAN IN OSHKOSH

Oshkosh—Mrs. Fred Pierce had a narrow escape from possible serious injury when a .22 caliber rifle bullet, which police believe was fired by some boys in the neighborhood, crashed through the window of her home and imbedded itself in the wall just a few feet from her.

The police were notified and made a thorough search of the neighborhood, a number of other residents having made similar complaints of promiscuous shooting in that vicinity.

As a result of the search the police confiscated three .22 caliber guns and apprehended three boys, whom they believe were responsible for the shooting.

The boys have been summoned to appear before Municipal Judge Goss at the sitting of the juvenile court, Saturday morning. A similar shooting incident was reported on Walnut street but the persons responsible have not been apprehended as yet.

This Woman's Food Gave Her No Strength

"Since Tanlac has done so much for me I can easily understand why so many people are praising it," said Mrs. Emma Kleinschmidt, R. R. 2, Station D., Box 90, Town of Lake, Wis.

"Before taking Tanlac, last fall, I had no appetite and my stomach was so disordered my food didn't seem to give me any strength or nourishment. I had awful pains in my back, my nerves were upset and I felt so tired and worn out all the time I didn't feel like turning my hand to do a thing and my housework was a burden."

"Tanic gave me a fine appetite and put my stomach in such good condition that I gained ten pounds. My nerves are steady, the pains disappeared from my back and I have felt so well I haven't taken any medicine since. Tanlac is certainly grand."

Tanic is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Why not settle, once and for all, this question of Correct Lubrication for your Ford?

Your Ford instruction book (Answer No. 100) says:—

"We recommend only light high-grade gas engine oil. . . Heavy and inferior oils have a tendency to carbonize quickly; also 'gum up' the piston rings, valve stems and bearings."

(POINT 1) When you pour in Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" it runs out at once when the oil is up to the pet-cock level. The correct oil level is obtained with CERTAINTY.

But possibly you do not think that this over-supply of oil makes any difference. Well, let us see what happens.

You notice that there is no splash trough for the rear cylinder. It is lubricated by the fly-wheel splash. (The third cylinder also receives some of this splash.)

If there is too much oil in the reservoir there will be too much oil splashed to the third and fourth cylinders. From the cylinder walls this excessive amount of oil reaches the combustion chambers where it is burned up. With an over-supply of oil heavier than "E," don't be surprised if you find extra heavy carbon deposits in these rear cylinders.

(POINT 2) The exceptionally clean-burning character of Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" minimizes the tendency toward carbon formation in the combustion chambers.

Next let us look at the connecting rods and splash troughs. Cylinders 1, 2 and 3 are lubricated by the dipping of the connecting rods into the troughs underneath. Remember that these connecting rods have no oil holes, no oil grooves, no dippers. To lubricate the friction surfaces the oil must work its way through the close clearances between the ends of the bearings and the crank cheeks, and then distribute itself over the bearing surfaces.

(POINT 3) Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" is sufficiently fluid to reach and lubricate these surfaces with ease. An incorrect or heavier oil very often does not.

Next, let us consider the pistons. The Ford pistons over-run the top of the cylinder bore.

(POINT 4) Gargoyle Mobiloil "E," being a clean-burning oil, is readily consumed and expelled. It does not remain to foul the valves, seats, and stems.

The Ford multiple disc clutch runs "wet"—is continually in a spray of engine oil. All manufacturers of this type of clutch recommend an oil which will give positive, quick engagement with no slipping, and an instantaneous release.

Heavier oils used in Ford engines cause a drag between the clutch plates. "Creeping" is the result. The car starts ahead when the engine starts, although the clutch is released.

(POINT 5) Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" gives positive and immediate clutch engagement and disengagement. There is no "creeping."

Just a word about the transmission. In the Ford you have a Planetary transmission employing three close-fitting sleeves, mounted on an extension of the crank-shaft. A heavy-bodied oil is not well adapted to work into and thoroughly lubricate the sleeves and bearings.

(POINT 6) The body and character of Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" enable it to distribute thoroughly and meet this lubrication need perfectly.

As to the transmission gears: There are three sets of triple gears mounted on close-fitting pivots. These gears are bronze bushed. The bearings fit tightly—in fact, so tightly that oil heavier than "E" is handicapped in working into and correctly lubricating the bushings and pins.

(POINT 7) Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" is of such body that it freely creeps in between the close-fitting parts and thoroughly lubricates the gears and bearings.

Chattering of Ford transmission bands comes from incorrectly adjusted bands or worn out linings, and is aggravated by unburned fuel mixed with the lubricating oil. In such cases the diluted oil should be replaced with fresh oil and the bands correctly adjusted or the linings renewed. To remedy such mechanical conditions by the use of so-called "anti-chattering oils" containing foreign material which may separate, or lard oil, wool grease or other animal fats which decompose under heat, is obviously wrong and likely to cause gumming of the valve stems, carbon deposit and other troubles.

(POINT 8) Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" is free from foreign material and animal fat. Its use and proper attention to the adjustment and renewal of the bands will give the greatest possible freedom from chattering. At the same time it will correctly lubricate the engine.

This concludes our trip through the Ford lubrication system.

AFTER careful consideration of the above Ford characteristics the Vacuum Oil Company's Board of Engineers saw plainly the need for a free-flowing oil of high quality and with minimum carbonizing tendencies. To meet these exacting needs of the Ford engine, clutch, and transmission, Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" is manufactured.

The results secured by Ford owners through the use of Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" are ample proof of the high quality of this oil and the correctness of this recommendation.

Put Gargoyle Mobiloil "E" in your Ford today.

FAIR RETAIL PRICE
—30c A QUART

When the dealer sells a quart of Gargoyle Mobiloil for less than 30c, he does not make his fair, reasonable profit. Lower prices often accompany substitution of low-quality oil for genuine Gargoyle Mobiloil.

Prices are slightly higher in Canada, the South-west, and the Far West.

War Changes Necessitate Treaties With New Governments In Europe

powers in the Versailles treaty, it was agreed that a commercial treaty would be negotiated at a later date. American consuls abroad have had thousands of questions put up to them by business interests of the United States which can not be effectively handled unless a treaty is made covering the contractual obligations of each country toward nationals of the other.

Although the purchasing power of Europe at present is low, the belief prevails that in a few years America will be doing a larger business with Europe and that to be on the safe side the American government ought to complete treaties wherever possible assuring American citizens of equitable treatment.

It will take months and possibly years to complete negotiations and get the necessary ratifications by the legislative bodies of the various countries concerned but this of course is no deterrent, as a treaty is expected to cover a long period of years. The revision of existing pacts by the American government is really an indication of how important are the changes in modern commercial life. Inland transportation has been developed to a great extent and countries which at one time had little connection with the sea can now be classed virtually as maritime powers because the war has given them an outlet to a port. In all the treaties there is more or less the same objective, equal treatment for American citizens on a parity with the treatment given by any government to the nations most favored by them.

JURY DELIBERATES FATE OF MAN HELD FOR HIDING DOG

Seymour Man Accuses Mitchell Ross Of Hiding Stolen Canine

Nine witnesses were introduced by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, in the case of concealment of stolen property of which Mitchell Ross of New London was charged.

The case had been appealed to the circuit court from municipal court. It was a stolen dog belonging to Ernest Marzahl of Kaukauna, which Ross was charged with concealing.

Taking of testimony was begun shortly after 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Although both the state and the defense rested late Thursday afternoon. Another witness for the state was subpoenaed early Friday morning. He was Benjamin Ross of Ellington, brother of the accused.

The jury was charged by Judge Edgar V. Werner shortly after 11 o'clock Friday. It had not yet returned a verdict by noon.

SAYS DOG STOLEN

Marzahl asserted that the dog, a Beagle found, valued at $75, was stolen from his premises in September, 1922. It was chained in a barn. Another dog, which was allowed to run loose in the same place was not taken. The dog was found later on the farm of Otto Ross, Ellington, father of the defendant, also at the Mitchell house in New London.

The complaining witness maintained that he made several attempts to get the dog back. Once he sent two friends to the Mitchell Ross home on the pretense of buying the dog. They identified the dog and returned a few minutes later with a New London policeman only to find the dog and the defendant missing. It was testified. The dog was later recovered on the farm of a cousin of Mitchell Ross in Townsend, Oconto-co.

F. J. Rooney, counsel for the defendant, argued that Ross did not know the dog was stolen, but that he had received the dog from his brother Benjamin to sell. His brother testified Friday morning that he bought the dog for 50 cents from a man called "Slim" in Kaukauna.

Three women were on the jury trying this case. They were Lizze Lembo of Seymour, Emma Morse of Shiocton and Emma Sembrich of Appleton.

THREE DAY HEARING ON DAMAGE CLAIMS ENDED ON FRIDAY

Father Wants Compensation For Death Of His Son In Paper Mill

Examiner Frank T. McCormick of the Wisconsin industrial commission, who with Reporter B. C. Cover has been hearing testimony in workmen's compensation cases here the last two days concluded the hearings Friday noon.

The principal case on which testimony was taken was that of August Blair vs. Riverside Fibre and Paper company, in which the claimant is asking for money to compensate for the earnings of his son, Blair, who was killed in the plant on July 20 of this year. The boy was killed in the Little Rapids mill when in trying to remove wood felt on the couch roll he was caught between the roll and cylinder of the machine. It was claimed that the boy was exposing himself unduly to danger in the attempt. If the claimant is successful in his claims, he will receive up to four times the amount of the boy's contributions to his parents.

A hearing was held in the case of Ed. Raeder vs. William Tate to determine what further disability has resulted since the making of the last award of $389 last February. The man was injured on Sept. 13, 1921, while working on the road. His shoulder and seven ribs were broken when vehicle tipped over in ditch.

Henry A. Evans claims compensation for his wife who contracted typhoid pneumonia while working in an alleged cold, damp workroom of the Gilbert Paper company last May. Testimony in the case of Mary Pawlosky vs. Meyer Burstein & Sons of Menasha showed that she had her hand injured while cleaning a feeding machine. Theodore Wahls, a salesman of the G. R. and S. garage, asked compensation for the broken leg he suffered on May 17 when an automobile wheel passed over it. The cases of Louis Pette vs. Riverside Fibre and Paper company and Henry Balch vs. Milwaukee Structural Steel company, were continued.

Gas from the oil fields. Gas from shale. And gas from just plain natural cooking gas.

Do you wonder there's a surplus in this auto fuel here, and that the price can be lowered so much?

Of course, most gasoline comes direct from the oil fields. And the shale deposits out west are being held for the time when the oil fields give out. But did you know that gas has been derived from the natural gas drawn out of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and other gas fields?

BIG BUSINESS
Facts and figures revealed by the United States Geological Survey here show the gasoline production of the country has been increased lately at the rate of a billion gallons a year. In this means alone, which makes the natural gas field quite an important factor in the supply of the automotive fuel.

It was not until comparatively recently that gasoline has been extracted in sufficient quantities from natural gas, although the first gasoline of this kind was produced in 1914. The big jump in the production of this gasoline came with the invention of what is called the absorption, or sucking, process.

Before this new method was used, gasoline was obtained from natural gas by the compression or squeezing process. If the natural gas had at least one gallon of gasoline to its 100 cubic feet it could be treated profitably by the older process. But by absorption, the amount of gasoline in the natural gas may be down to a pint in every 1000 cubic feet and the extraction would be profitable.

THE NEW WAY
G. N. Saylor of Hastings, W. Va., is the man who perfected this absorption process. An oil, which has the faculty of absorbing gasoline from natural gas, is sprayed downward through a tall pipe or tower while the natural gas is forced up. The natural gas coming out at the top is practically without gasoline, while the oil at the bottom has absorbed it. Then by a simple process of distillation, the gasoline is derived from the oil, and the oil goes through the same operation again.

A good sized plant, a survey of officials, can treat 50,000 cubic feet of natural gas this way, and obtain at least 5,000 gallons of gasoline a day. And when the natural gas, bereft of the gasoline, is used by the householder, it is maintained, it gives just as good light and just as much heat as it would with the gasoline in it. In fact, absorption of the gasoline makes the cooking gas so much cheaper because it is the gasoline that destroyed the rubber in the pipe lines caused gas leakage, and raised the operating costs.

The benefit is two-fold: cheaper auto to gas and cheaper cooking gas.

OFFER BIG PRIZES FOR SAFETY ESSAYS

The third annual safety contest conducted under the auspices of the National Highway Educational board, Willard-bldg., Washington, D. C., will close Dec. 4, according to information sent to A. G. Meiering, county superintendent of schools.

This year's campaign takes the form of two contests, one among elementary school pupils and another among elementary school teachers.

Approximately 500 state and national prizes costing $6,000 will be given for the best essays and lessons. The prizes are offered by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which is desirous of reducing the number of highway accidents and training children in the habits of highway safety.

In the two previous years approximately 400,000 pupils and 50,000 teachers

Study the Three Greatest
American Documents

There are three documents which every American should be familiar with—the Declaration of Independence, proclaimed on July 4, 1776; the Articles of Confederation providing for a Union of the States; and the Constitution of the United States which is the highest law of the land.

A thorough understanding of the history and government of the country is not possible without knowledge of these three historic papers.

Our readers are offered—entirely free—a booklet, issued by the American People's Society containing these three documents.

Invite School Children To Enter Essay Contest

Free Trips To Milwaukee In December Will Be Given
To Two Winners

School children of the upper grades in Appleton and Oshkosh are invited to enter the essay contest to be conducted with the Wisconsin Manufacturers' exposition which will be held in the Milwaukee auditorium the week of Dec. 1 to 5.

All particulars have been received by A. G. Meiering, county superintendent, and the distribution. George F. Haskin, secretary of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association, is in the committee which will have charge of the arrangements for the contest. The other members are John C. O'Brien, state school superintendent, and E. G. Duda, secretary of the Wisconsin Teachers' association.

FREE TRIP TO MILWAUKEE

In order to make the contest doubly attractive to pupils, the Exposition management will award two prizes to contestants in each of the 10 counties in the state. To one boy and to one girl of each county the Exposition will offer all necessary expenses for a trip to Milwaukee and return. Each winner may stay in a hotel at Milwaukee for two days at the expense of the Exposition. A further prize of $100 will be offered to the pupil who after visiting the Exposition writes the best essay on the subject, "My Impression of Wisconsin after having visited the 1923 Wisconsin Exposition."

Pupils of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades of any public, private and parochial school in the state are eligible to compete. The title of the essay is "My Best Opportunity is in Wisconsin." Essays must be limited to 200 words. They must be written legibly on one side only of the paper which should be about 10 by 11 inches. Essays are to be submitted to teachers and the teachers will deliver them to Mr. Meiering.

The essays must be in the hands of the county superintendent by Nov. 15. Announcement of prizes will be made no later than Nov. 25. Points on which pupils may touch in their essays are natural resources, such as water power, timber, tiled lands, hunting and fishing grounds, mines, navigable rivers, artificial development, such as diversified industry, inventions, highways, railways, agriculture, inclusive of all forms of livestock, dairying, horticulture, production, dairying, horticulture, agriculture, dairying and advancement, accuracy, thoroughness, people, inclusive of all groups.

Teachers have participated each autumn. The subject of this year's essay is "Highway Safety Habits I Should Learn." Essays are not to exceed 300 words. These essays are pupils of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades not over 14 years of age. Teachers are requested to submit essays on the subject, "Training Children in Habits of Safety on the Highways." The limit suggested is between 1,000 and 3,000 words.

First prize in the teachers' contest is $500 and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The second award is $300 and the third prize $200. The first national prize for pupils is a gold watch and a trip to Washington with all expenses paid. The second and third prizes also are gold watches. In addition to these prizes there will be about 10 prizes in each state. The first prize being a gold medal and $15, second prize a silver medal and $10 and the remaining prizes are bronze medals and $5.

LOW WATER MARK IS LIMIT FOR HUNTERS

Strip Between High And Low
Water Is Private Property,
Court Holds

Hunters are liable to get into trouble through misunderstanding of the law of trespass between low and high water marks, according to a sportsman who has just returned from a hunting trip in northern Wisconsin.

For years it was thought that hunters could roam everywhere along a shore line and that the land between the low and high water marks is public property. A former attorney general, in fact, gave out an opinion to that effect.

The question was strengthened last

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You
Have Not Been Drinking
Enough Water

When you wake up with backache, and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish and clog you must relieve them. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get extra, water swells and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

winter when it was thrown into lime light in the case of trespass brought against Peter Olson of Stoughton by W. W. Gill of Madison who owned land on Lake Kegonsa. Olson was acquitted on grounds that he was on public domain and had not committed any act of trespass.

A few weeks later, however, the law was put to a test in another case. The supreme court ruled that while the rights of the public on navigable inland lakes extend to the actual water line, the public has no right to enter on the strip of land between ordinary low and high water marks, and that the owner may maintain an action of trespass for such entry.

In the case in question, Charles Doemel brought action against Frank Jantz for trespass on his lands passed in entering the strip between the low and high water marks.

This year it is possible that land owners may take more advantage of the law. Hunters will do well to first get permission from the owners if they would avoid trouble.

There's Pride in Fine Ironing

You feel it don't you? As you iron piece after piece, handling the heavy pieces, the towels, shirts, waists, and the frilly things, your pride increases as each succeeding piece seems more and more beautiful. Yes, there is a pride that comes as a result of this—and it's not hard to achieve if the iron you use is right. You simply must see the Westinghouse Iron to fully appreciate how it will help you to iron more beautifully.

PAIGE REQUIRES 70 TESTS ON ROAD

The road test of the Paige 6-70 required more than 70 odd tests, says "These are listed on a card carried by the road man. Every item that a motor car mechanism should be found on that list is tested. For instance, left hand steering to the imagination in the test of engine trouble. Glancing at a card and following on down the list, I doubted whether any man could, with two to three hours of driving, make a car over the road. I would possibly catch all the major and minor faults which occurred to the title brain of the chief inspector he made up the card.

"But let's get into 'Inquisition' and let the tester get out onto the road. While I have been looking at a card the tester has walked three miles around the chassis with a wrench and a pair of pliers.

"As he stepped into the test body at the tester told me that he had made preliminary adjustments of the front wheels and axle, and checked a gas line, which was bent out its proper line.

"My glance turned toward the chassis but as my eye picked up the line of the car, the roadster has started out on his grind, would have liked to have gone with a mule but had been told by Mr. Jewett, president of the Paige Company when I sent me out into the plant that it was impossible. Every test is a special test for every clutch spring. One man is kept busy testing the threads of the little knobs found on the end of gear shift levers. Scores of other relatively unimportant parts, such as the brake pedal, transmission shifter fork, valve spring and piston rings, are all carefully inspected.

Particularly rigid is the examination of the pistons, all of which pass across a large table around which seven inspectors are crouched, each having his own special detail work to look after. In some of these inspections, the piston is immediately rejected if there is a variation of more than three thousandths of an inch.

It is obvious, of course, that all the larger and more important parts should be carefully manufactured and inspected, as lax methods would prove more costly than the most elaborate system of efficiency. It is in the thoroughness of these inspections, however, and in the attention given to small, apparently insignificant parts, that Dodge Brothers differ to the exceptional. And doubtless it is true, as the executives say, that this precise regard for detail has had a great deal to do with the reputation of Dodge Brothers Car.

started on the long journey after having been driven only seven miles. The engine was started when the convoy left St. Joseph and was cut off in San Francisco nine days later. Two hundred and twenty hours of continuous running had been successfully accomplished and in that time the SPEED WAGON had traversed mountains, deserts, trackless wastes, and roads that were nearly buried in mud, as well as highways that left nothing to be desired.

On one day after losing ground to the ponies which it was following during a battle with muddy roads, the SPEED WAGON covered more than 350 miles in 11 hours of running time. This was accomplished between Hares, Kansas, and Denver and was but one of many almost unbelievable feats which marked the record breaking trip.

Jack Heber of the RKO San Francisco branch, who drove the car, would accept no relief over any part of the road. According to him, one of his hardest jobs was encountered when he drove up to filling stations and asked to have a tank filled while the engine was running. Very few refusals were met when the cause for the unusual request were set forth.

MOST EXPENSIVE PRIVATE CAR

The most expensive private Pullman car in the world has just been completely overhauled at the Piedmont & Northern shops at Greenville, S. C. It is owned by J. B. Duke, the tobacco magnate, and was used by President Woodrow Wilson and his Secretary of the Treasury, W. G. McAdoo during the World War. The original cost of the car was about $12,000, nearly twice the average cost of private cars that are built by the Pullman Company.

DODGE BUYER GETS QUALITY INSURANCE

That Is What Intensive Inspection Of Machines At Factory Is Called

"Quality insurance" is what they call the elaborate inspection system in force at Dodge Brothers.

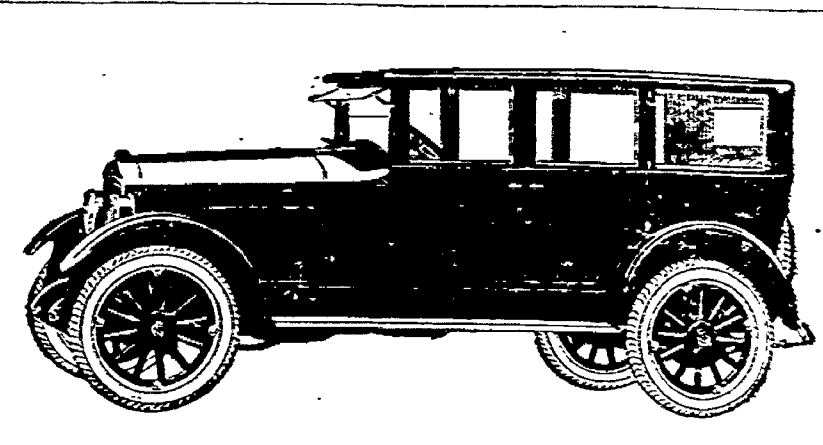

"Regardless of how well a car is built," they say, "it can not be expected to perform at its best unless it is well inspected. No human hand is infallible. We are exceptionally particular about having our employees and suppliers live up to the letter of our specifications, but even so, there is always a possibility of error or oversight. Our inspectors are hired for the sole purpose of detecting and correcting these errors. The fact that Dodge Brothers Car is so highly regarded by the public, proves that every dollar invested has been well spent. It has added somewhat to the cost of manufacture, but it has resulted in a car which the buyer knows he can rely on from the moment he accepts delivery.

In addition to the large force employed in the metallurgical department, which devotes itself largely to the inspection of materials before manufacture, there are over 1100 inspectors to check manufactured parts as fast as they are completed. Ausmending this large staff are the 1100 foremen, assistant foremen and superintendents, who, being charged with the responsibility for the work of the departments, give most of their time to the duties which are in effect the last and surest of the inspectors. Thus it is seen that fully 2200 men in Dodge Brothers Works, or almost one-seventh of the entire working force of 16,000, are there for the purpose of insuring quality in every phase of the finished product.

The lengths to which the inspection system is carried is amazing. A recent trip through the factory, for example, disclosed the fact that even such minor parts as machine screws, bolts, etc., were inspected. There is a special test for every clutch spring. One man is kept busy testing the threads of the little knobs found on the end of gear shift levers. Scores of other relatively unimportant parts, such as the brake pedal, transmission shifter fork, valve spring and piston rings, are all carefully inspected.

TEST PROVES WORTH OF 4 WHEEL BRAKES

Central Motor Car Co. Demonstrating Car Put To Fierce Test

Four wheel brakes, as they are built in the Buick, can and do stop a car quickly and they stop it without skidding. This was demonstrated beyond all doubt one afternoon this week, when the Buick six used by the Central Motor Car Co. as a demonstration, was given a test that was carried to extremes. And not once did the car fail.

The brakes worked perfectly under all conditions. There was no skidding, whatever in the front wheels and no difficulty in steering when the brakes were set.

The tests demonstrated that the front brakes do not lock, that it is possible to turn a corner with the brakes set so tightly that the back wheels slide on the road. The brakes set tightly enough on the front wheels to slow up the car very materially but not enough to prevent steering.

This was demonstrated by speeding the car up to 30 or 35 miles an hour, then applying the brakes with full force and turning a sharp corner with the brakes set. The corner was turned without difficulty. On another occasion the car was raced at a 40-mile clip up to a railroad track and the brakes applied at a distance of 50 feet. The car came to a dead stop four feet from the track. And there wasn't any jolting of the occupants. While the stop was sudden it was not like the application of an air brake on a train which stopped the momentum with a terrible jerk.

Answering the charge that the brakes on the front wheel cause an extra "drag" on the car, requiring more power to move it, the machine was speeded up to 30 miles an hour on Lake-st and at the Foster-st intersection the clutch was thrown out. It coasted all the way to the foot of Pearl-st hill, stopping between the two mills of the Fox River Paper Co.

On another test it was speeded up to 30 miles an hour on Lake-st and the clutch disengaged between Harrison and Main-st. The car coasted up a considerable incline to the Foster-st intersection. There apparently was no extra "drag" on the car because of the front wheel brakes.

A few days ago when a new Buick was driven into the garage here it was found that it had been driven all the way from Milwaukee with one front wheel brake disconnected. It made no difference in the steering of the car that the driver didn't know that one brake wasn't working.

BE CONSISTENT IN TRACING TROUBLES

Trouble With Electrical System On Cars May Be Laid To Four Causes

J. J. BURKE, Langstadt-Meyer Co.

Some car operators give their cars much thought, and when electrical trouble occurs form opinions as to the causes. These may or may not be correct. Carefully analyze the symptoms, then be consistent in looking for the trouble. If a certain part of the equipment is giving trouble, determine just what conditions could cause the trouble, then go over the equipment investigating each condition until the cause of the trouble is located. For example, one head light does not burn, everything else O. K. Now it would be highly inconsistent to look for this trouble in the battery or generator, as it is easy evidence that it is confined to the lamp circuit. The lamp may be burned out, or the wires to the lamp may be short circuited, or opened. If these possibilities are gone into thoroughly, the trouble will be easily and quickly cleared up. In all cases of trouble first determine the cause for the trouble, then proceed to eliminate them one at a time until the trouble is cleared up. Think first and try out in a logical way afterward. Don't jump at conclusions and think afterward.

Troubles in the Electrical system of an automobile are faults which prevent the current from traveling in its proper paths and down the work that is expected of it. Almost all electrical troubles may be placed under one of four heads:

1. Open Circuit.
2. Circuit having abnormally high resistance.
3. Short Circuit.
4. The modification of short circuit called a ground.

1. An open circuit occurs when a wire becomes detached from its terminal or breaks, or when a connection is dirty or improperly made, so that the current carrying surfaces do not make a proper contact with each other thereby preventing the current because of the lack of a complete path or circuit.

High resistance may result from poorly made connections or wires that are partly broken through or wires that are too small for the work that they must do. Any fault that results in a partial stoppage of current through a circuit that should be complete will increase resistance will bring this trouble about.

3. A short circuit is caused by wires which have broken insulation and coming in contact with each other or touching the metal parts of the car.

4. A ground is a form of short circuit established through the parts of the car on a grounded (one wire) system that is a wiring system using the metal parts of the car to carry the current. Grounding occurs when a current carrying conductor comes in contact with a metal part of the car. It can readily be seen that if the ground occurs between the battery and any part of the equipment, the result will be a short circuit. The current returning to the battery through the metal of the car instead of first going through the current using devices then returning to the battery. On an insulated (2 wire) system, it is necessary that both wires make contact with the metal of the car before a short circuit can result.

SEAMAN BODIES ON NASH CLOSED CARS

Superior Workmanship Is Predominating Feature On All Models

Deep significance attaches itself to the phrase, "Bodies by Seaman," for the history of one automobile coachwork is rich with the contributions of this highly specialized group of artisans.

Traditionally it was a house occupied solely with the creation of exclusive furniture. Then by natural steps its efforts gravitated toward giving expression in motor car bodies to the last traditions of woodworking.

Founded seventy-four years ago it has grown under successive guidance of three generations of Seamans to the present immense shop that furnishes all of the Nash and Lafayette enclosed bodies. One-half ownership is vested in The Nash Motors Company, Harold and Irving Seaman, grandsons of A. D. Seaman, the founder, devoted their entire energies to the direction of their great group of craftsmen, many of whom date association with the company back to the days of A. D. Seaman.

In 1849 the Seaman company entered actively into the body building field and shortly after an alliance was formed with that famous European designer, Rothschild, who had been attracted to the distinction of Seaman artistry. For a period of years Seaman built Rothschild bodies in this country and later years saw Seaman providing the coachwork for the costliest American enclosed cars and also the custom-built conception for foreign cars.

Since C. W. Nash effected an arrangement with the Seaman Company the entire production has been confined to Nash and Lafayette needs. The constantly growing output of these companies has made it necessary to increase plant capacity to double the former figure. Now Seaman plant No. 1 aggregates 550,000 square feet of floor space and this, with the 20,000 foot area of plant No. 2, brings the total to 670,000.

Doubtless few motor car buyers give more than casual thought to other than the external appearance of an enclosed car body. Yet it is this thing perfect of its kind.

CHEVROLET HELPS CUT DOWN H. C. L.

Car More Than Pays For Itself In City Or Country. Claim Of Makers

The Chevrolet enables the city housewife to buy vegetables, eggs, poultry and small fruits, direct from the farmer's wife, fresh and cheap. Each woman benefits by the exchange as the low prices paid by the city woman are much higher than the farmer can get on wholesale markets. In like manner, Chevrolet enables the farmer's wife to buy dry goods, groceries and household appliances not available in country stores.

In time and money saved, the health and happiness gained a Chevrolet more than pays for itself, therefore every family, in city or country can afford to own one.

"Here in Detroit," stated Mr. McNaughton, "a thoughtful, studious throng of over four thousand persons examined the new V-8 in the show-rooms of the Detroit branch at their building on Cass ave. and in the General Motors building. This was by far the largest attendance at any first showing of a new Cadillac type in our Detroit history, and telegraphed reports from distributors and district managers throughout the country indicate that both attendance and interest in the V-8 sets a new record in the reception of any new high grade motor car.

SPEED WAGON HAS NON-STOP RECORD

Diverse Conditions Are Faced By Reo In Race With Pony Express

A record that will doubtless stand unassailed for some time to come is established by the SPEED WAGON which, as a part of the official motor convoy for the Pony Express Revival furnished by the Reo Motor Car company, raced 2270 miles across the country without having its engine stopped.

During 220 consecutive hours the fire of the SPEED WAGON consumed its steady hum and during at period it was necessary to feed only five quarts of oil. This is a remarkable record in itself, but when the running conditions are known, it seems all the more remarkable for almost insurmountable obstacles which were overcome.

The SPEED WAGON with which a record was made was taken directly from the assembly line in the REO shops at Lansing, Michigan, and shipped the same day to Joseph, Missouri, the starting point of the Pony Express run. It arrived in St. Joseph less than 24 hours before the scheduled starting of the trip to San Francisco, and only such preparatory service as could be given at that late hour, and

AIR FLIVVER SHOWS SPEED OF 65 MILES

By Associated Press London — Last year's dream of aerial flivvers has come true. An experimental glider fitted with twin engines of five horsepower and two tiny propellers has, in its first test flight, hit up a speed of 65 miles an hour and attained a height of 2,500 feet. The flight was made from the airfield at Lympne, within two hours after the little plane had been unpacked from a motor ferry. It seemed easy to assemble the many parts and not at all difficult, from a financial standpoint, to keep it in the air, the gasoline consumption being much less than for a small automobile. The propellers, each a yard in length, are at the back of the front plane, where a chain connects them with the engine. The pilot sits in front. The span of the front wings measures only 33 feet, and the length from head to tail is 12 feet. There is hardly any undercarriage, the landing wheels being attached to the body itself. This new glider will be entered in the various European gliding contests this summer. These are sure to produce even greater sensations than those of a year ago, since in the interim the use of small powered engines in airplanes has made distinct progress.

PULL REMOVES DUSTCAP

Instead of toting with a wrench taking several minutes to uncover the dustcap, all that is needed with this new form of cap is pull it off.

A specially constructed nut crows down over the tire valve stem and the cap is so pressed down on it that a spring within the cap holds it in place. It is a pull to remove it.

WINDOWS FOR SIGNALS

Stormy or cold weather keeps all the windows shut in a sedan, yet the driver may put out his left hand for signaling without discomforting the people within. All he does is push out a small lower section of the front window, which is made especially for this purpose, as shown.

AUTOS DON'T MAKE COUNTRY POORER

Savings Have Grown Enormously Despite Purchase Of Many Cars

Is the automobile making the country poorer? Ask the people recklessly spending their savings for automobiles!

If your banker or anybody else asks you these questions, St. John Motor Co. gives the answer, taken from an article by Alex. Johnston, published in the September issue of the Wisconsin Motorist, page 27, figures being drawn from government statistics.

In the year 1900 there were 13,500 automobiles in the United States. In the same year there was $2,359,713, 254 in savings accounts, $5,562,059, 722 in life insurance in force, and $77, 256,400 in bond and loan savings.

Ten years later, 1910, there were 465,000 automobiles, the savings were increased to $10,459,247, and the life insurance was increased to $15, 406,000,000, and the building and loan savings amounted to $33,302,000.

A more enormous increase was noticeable in 1920. There were 9,177, 129 automobiles, and the savings amounted to $4,535,591,000. The life insurance was more than doubled amounting to $42,330,955,000, while the building and loan savings amounted to $107,000,000.

In a nutshell, despite the admittedly greater amount of money spent by the American people for automobiles between the years 1900 and 1920, the savings of the American people have increased 300 per cent while the population has only increased 30 per cent.

We suggest you keep this article as an indisputable answer to the pessimist.

Make Study Of Harmony In Clothes

Full And Winter Outfits Should Match Woman's Form And Complexion

Scranton, Pa.—Before you buy your fall and winter outfits, give a thought to your individual lines and color, urges Mary Brooks Picken, director of the Woman's Institute of Domestic Arts and Sciences, here.

"If you are sallow," she advises, avoid brown, purple, yellow or red. Select dark blue whenever possible. "If you are a fair blonde, you can wear practically every color except yellow, orange, tan or drab gray. If you are a sallow blonde, restrict yourself to soft tones of blue, flesh, pale rose and blue green."

"The tawny blonde may wear all soft colors with the exception of red or orange."

"The in-between type, with light hair, blue, brown or gray eyes and fair complexion is best in blue first, then in subdued colors in all tones, while the pale brunette with dark hair and fair skin will be best in black, ivory, blue, all tones of gray and practically all dark tones of blue. The florid brunette wears black exceptionally well, but will do well to include red, purple, bright blues and light greens from her wardrobe."

PROPER NECKLINES
And even more important than color is line, Miss Picken insists.

"Necklines are of the greatest importance and should be governed by the shape of the face as well as by the general figure," she says. "If you have a round, full face a round neckline would emphasize this, but a V-neck would counteract the roundness and give an effect of length."

"The woman with long and pointed features will be best in a round or shaped neck. However, if the features are decidedly long and pointed, is best not to use the very round neckline as the contrast will be too marked."

MUST BE SUITABLE

"Waistlines should not be conspicuous and should be arranged so as to divide the figure definitely. Skirt lengths should be considered on the standpoint of attractiveness. Side draperies help the large figure to have a modish skirt length without awkwardness. "The woman who is tall and thin could be generous in her pardage and let grace in line enhance her dress. The short, and miss could stick to simple tailored things as much as possible and self-trimmed or georgette dresses in preference to ruffled or elaborately decorated ones."

If a woman took more time to figure out her type, it would take her time to do her shopping, and she would have fewer failures to her edit each season, Miss Picken concludes.

Adventures Of The Twins

Mrs. Thingumadagger's House

"The first person I wish you would ask for," said King Snookums to the twins, "is my lord chancellor, s name is Codger. Mister Lord g Chancellor Codger. Like the of my silly subjects, he got into for riding lightning bugs. And he's plumb disappeared. We n't find him anywhere in Pee Wee nd. And I need him sadly as I ve to make a new law and need him write it out for me."

"Oh, well," said Nick, "we'll find m. With our magic shoes we can anywhere, and we'll hunt in all e kitchens and pantries and cake es and pastry shops and candy es."

Away they went then and it wasn't o minutes till they came to Mrs. ingumadagger's house.

Mrs. Thingumadagger had been ding. Anyone could in four blocks t that. Such a smell you never elled.

Little Hat Will Stay

Use Slight Brim, If Any, Says Paris

Paris — Do you wonder that the Parisienne clings to the little hat when you look at these models?

Each one sits firmly on each neatly coiffed head, and the most lively autumn wind cannot budge it and spoil the effect or coax the little tendrils out to play.

These hats understood their responsibility and they accept it with out reserve.

The conventional black satin turban of this season is inevitably accompanied by a jeweled pin, and the new model turbans frequently have a touch of color, and possibly a tassel that reaches below the shoulder.

The cloche allows any slight trimming or variation that does not interfere with the line, and the shorter the brim the better.

You Can Make Your Writing Desk Yourself

Every woman realizes the necessity of having all her writing materials in one place, for time is precious in the busy life of today. In a few moments, with a bit of material and a tube of best quality liquid glue, she may have a practical, convenient and decorative desk folder that will contain all her writing materials and soon be responsible for diminishing the list of unwritten letters. The only materials required to make the writing case are two pad backs, four pieces of terry cloth, ten inches of tape and a length of narrow ribbon. A strip of tape glued to the tops of the pad backs, joining them so that they may fold over easily. Three pieces of the same braid that is used for binding, each about two inches long, are glued to the pad backs over the tape, forming a holder for the pencil or pen. These strips are pulled through slits in the material after the case has been covered.

Glue the largest piece of terry cloth over the inside of the case with about an inch of the material folding over the outside. Glue the two inner cloth strips on. The last piece of terry cloth is glued into the empty space on the cover and the rough edges are hidden by narrow ribbon. While terry cloth and dull gold ribbon are effective, the case may be made with any other material of a slightly heavy weight. An especially attractive one is made of heavy brocaded ribbon.

With a pencil slipped in the loops that have been pulled through the slits just before the inner piece is glued with stationery in one pocket and envelopes and stamps in the other, there can be no excuse for the unwritten letter.

DECORATIVE BUTTONS

Steel and jet buttons are seen on frocks of velvet and satin. They are arranged so as to give a decorative touch, and not interfere with a certain severe but sophisticated simplicity.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO MRS. JOSEPH GRAVES HAMILTON

DEAR MOTHER:

It was an unfortunate turn in events that made me arrive home just three hours after you and dad had left. I think it was horrid for dad's secretary to get sick just at this time.

I know you are most interested in my visit to Jack's mother, for, of course, you must have had some inkling of my feelings in the matter from the letter I wrote you.

Well, as Jack says, it was some visit! You remember all about my saying I did not believe Mrs. Prescott was ill at all. I think it was just a conspiracy to get Jack over there and tell him about me and get some money out of Jack.

Both Mrs. Prescott and Miss Bradford were surprised and chagrined when I made my appearance and things went from bad to worse until, as a climax, Karl Whitney made his appearance on the scene at what seems to be the ungodly hour of 9 o'clock.

It was bad enough for Karl to call upon me at all but to come in the middle of the night was unspeakable. He has probably scowled you before this Alice's wireless. What did Alice mean when she said, "I shall wear the pearl ring and think of your goodness whenever I look at it?"

Surely you do not intend that Alice and Karl shall be engaged. I think Karl rather wanted me to ask him for an explanation, but I would not do that. It seemed to me it was making too much of it.

I merely said, "Karl, I think it is foolish for you to give a girl as young as Alice a pearl ring. She is too young to wear expensive jewels." He made no reply to this.

Well, mother dear, I have to report that your daughter is a nasty little cat. Things came to a show-down at the home of Jack's mother. Right before Karl I made it perfectly clear that either Priscilla Bradford should leave the house or I would, and then I had a taste of the splendid inborn aristocracy of the Puritan blood.

With perfect politeness and kindness, in a way that I could take no offense, I was dismissed. I really admired Jack's mother more at that time than any other.

I went to the next town with Karl and arrived home to tell my troubles to Jack. He was much more angry than I.

Mother, Jack's a dear, but somehow he seems very much worried lately. I cannot understand it at all. It cannot be money troubles, for in the few months we have been married he has had his salary boosted once and earned two big bonuses besides.

Did you notice, mother dear, while you were here that when he thinks no one is looking at him, a worried look comes into his eyes? It grieves me greatly that he does not confide in me, but I am not going to worry him about it.

I really have very little curiosity you know. I have always believed that any one whom you loved should be allowed to tell you as much or as little as he wished of his own affairs. I think that is a mark of your loyalty.

Curiosity, I believe, is a vice which sometimes masquerades as virtue—or would you say it is a virtue which sometimes masquerades as a vice? Like all good things in this world, it can be overdone.

We would know nothing in this world if we did not question ourselves or each other; but still a person can "butt in" to another's affairs and make unhappiness for every one. I am kind of all mixed up, but anyway, I am your Loving

Jubbulpore Raises Flag Of India Four Times Despite Prohibitions

By Associated Press
Nagpur, India — Demonstrations held in connection with the display of the Indian national flag continue daily in Nagpur, and have spread to other cities of India. Arrests in Nagpur for flag agitation now total 150. As a rule the prisoners are given brief prison sentences.
At Jubbulpore the Town Hall has been hoisted over the Town Hall on four separate days, with resulting arrests by the police on each occasion. The initial hoisting of the flag was preceded by a street procession in which about eight thousand people, including many women, took part. This procession, headed by a drum corps, marched to the Town Hall singing national songs. Volunteers carried the flag and drape by the aid of ladders and ropes. One of the men then climbed the flagpole and fastened the flag, encouraged by loud cheering from the people below. The crowd which witnessed the scene is estimated at twenty thousand.

You Don't Serve Coffee By the Pound ~ ~
You serve it by the cup—So it's the cost cup for cup that counts.
You pay a few cents more for a pound of Thomas J. Webb Coffee but each cup you serve costs you less than a cup brewed from lower priced coffees.
So much richer in flavor is Thomas J. Webb Coffee that a pound of it goes further—yields many more cups and far more flavor to each cup.
There's Real Economy in Using This Higher Quality Coffee

It Goes Further Because— the following extraordinary precautions have been taken to make it a coffee of far greater flavor and richness—
It Is a Superior Blend— of the choicest and most expensive coffees grown—these known to contain the greatest amount of essential coffee oils—
Sealed in the Roasting— It is roasted in the "live flame"—an original roasting process that quickly seals and holds all the flavor-giving oils in the coffee beans—thus preventing wastage—
Sealed in the Packing— The roasted coffee itself is, in turn, packed and sealed in air-tight, moistureproof tins. This insures freshness of every precious particle, all the way down to the last coffee bean in the tin.
Judges of good coffee pronounce it a distinct advance in the science of coffee roasting and blending.

MILK PREVENTS CHILDRENS' DISEASES

The Health Department of New York City a few years ago made tabulations on school children in several different districts and found with practically no exceptions that children receiving plenty of Milk and butter were the most active. About the same time infantile paralysis was epidemic in New York, and the health authorities were exhausting every means to prevent the spreading of the dread disease. After it had subsided, Nathan Strauss, the well known philanthropist, in a public statement said that not one of the 2500 children being fed on pasteurized milk given out regularly at his eight stations, had contracted the disease. Following this statement the Diet Kitchen Association announced that only two out of their 2727 milk-fed babies had died of the disease.

ANSWERS HOUSEWIFE'S REQUIREMENTS—NICELY

There has come in recent years a greater appreciation on the part of housewives of the importance of pure food. Articles in magazines, study of the food subject in women's clubs, lectures by domestic scientists, pure food shows—all these have aided in effecting this desirable result. And with this growing understanding of pure food selection and sanitary preparation has come a better appreciation of the value of Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine to the housewife; for no product can better answer the requirements of housewives in respect to purity.

GOOD LUCK is made from ingredients of so notably fine a quality as to please the most fastidious. The methods employed throughout the factory in its preparation, as well as those used in marketing it, are likewise sanitary.

On the score of purity, therefore, GOOD LUCK measures up in excellent fashion to the requirements and training of the modern day housewife. It is, in fact, an ideal food for the woman who is bent on protection of the health and welfare of her household through the care she exercises in the choice of pure food. But there is also another feature in connection with GOOD LUCK that makes its purchase desirable.

All living costs are admittedly high. Next to rent, food bills are the largest single item on the family budget, and take a large slice of anyone's income, no matter how large that income may be. The larger the family the more serious is the problem of high food costs. Here again GOOD LUCK with its modest cost is a relief.

Due in part to large scale production and to modern methods, and in part to the fact that more abundant, and therefore less costly but equally nutritious, fats are used in its manufacture GOOD LUCK is remarkably low in price, and by using it the housewife makes a decided saving. To take advantage of GOOD LUCK, therefore, is to find a welcome friend with which to cut the cost of good eating. The response of Jelke GOOD LUCK Margarine to the call of modern living conditions makes it the logical choice of any woman for a spread for bread upon her dining table and as a shortening in her kitchen.

Through arrangements made with retail food dealers in every part of the country it is possible for the housewife to find GOOD LUCK for sale—while strictly fresh—conveniently near her home. In buying it she has assurance of a food of undoubted purity and high excellence at a low price.—Advertisement.

"GUNNER" JOE QUINN CONQUERS DEVINE IN SIXTH

St. Paul Fighter Has Best Of Hard Battle With Chicago Boxer

Four Knockouts Feature Card At Armory G Thursday Night; Show Draws Poor Crowd

Gunner Joe Quinn stopped Bob Devine in sixth round. Young Chung knocked out Frenchy Londo in second round. Mickey Mack knocked out Earl Rogers in fourth round. Walter Hendricks knocked out Leon LaRue in first round.

Quinn rushed across the ring to start the fight and met Devine with a halfpunching jab and right hand and left on Devine's head and jaw. Devine got in a good jab and a right to the body and a right to the jaw. The "Gunner's" lightning blows evidently had Devine puzzled and Quinn got in several more things blows to the head and face.

In the second round Quinn again led off and ran into a heavy left to the jaw, coming back with a right to Devine's face. He planted several more rights and lefts on the boxer's face, which Devine tried to spin. The rain of blows Quinn shot his left to Devine's head and took a left and right to the head. Both fighters were still going strong when the round ended, although Devine began to show many bruises about the face.

Quinn carried the fight to Devine's corner to open the third and Devine again drove his left to the "Gunner's" face. Quinn drove a series of rights and lefts to Devine's body and took as much as he could. Devine planted a swing on Quinn's ear, knocking him down. Devine spun his right to Quinn's face, but Quinn's head seemed to feel his blows. Devine began falling into corners frequently and showed the results of the heavy punishment he had been taking. The round ended in a draw.

Quinn rushed in and apparently determined to end the fight as the fourth round started and repeatedly drove both right and left to Devine's unprotected head and face. Devine landed a heavy left to the jaw and took a storm of blows on the face and jaw. Devine was groggy but again landed his left to Quinn's head frequently. A right to the jaw drove Devine for the corner of seven when the going soured.

Both men rushed in and met in the middle of the ring at the opening of the fifth frame. Quinn shot his left to Devine's jaw, and took one on the chin in exchange. Quinn's right and left both connected with Devine's head and knocked him groggy. Quinn ran into a corner, and took several blows to the head and body in the break away. Devine covered up and was rushed all around the ring but recovered sufficiently to start a wicked right to Quinn's face. Quinn planted his blows again, and at will Devine saved himself by continual dodging.

Devine, still game shot his left to the "Gunner's" face to open the sixth round. Quinn took two blows for all he gave. Devine stood up to the attack and exchanged three of four things to the head. Quinn shot his right to Devine's jaw and knocked him down for the count of eight. Devine staggered to his feet and into a corner and took a right to the head and a left to the body. Quinn which floored him again for the count of eight. Quinn's right to Devine's jaw and took him down for the count of eight. Devine staggered to his feet and into a corner and took a right to the head and a left to the body. Quinn which floored him again for the count of eight.

FOND DU LAC HIGHS HERE FOR GRID BATTLE SATURDAY

Local Eleven Plays First Home Contest With Red And White

Coach Wilson Leads His Charges Against Eleven Of Former Collegemate At Illinois University

Coach David Wilson's new High school eleven is on the card for its first home battle of the season Saturday afternoon at the Lawrence field when the Fond du Lac squad invades this city.

The Appleton boys have been appearing regularly for their daily drill and have not permitted their recent victory over the Manitowishigman to go to their heads. Saturday's game is expected to be a hard one, for the Red and White is a tough and experienced outfit with a number of last year's veterans in its ranks. Moreover, Coach Wilson and Royal are former classmates at Illinois between whom a friendly but intense rivalry exists, and Fond du Lac High school attempted to get Wilson to coach its squad this year before he decided to sign up with Appleton.

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY
However, judging from the brilliant display made by his men last Saturday, Coach Wilson is confident of another victory in spite of Fond du Lac's advantages. In scrimmage last week with the Lawrence Freshman squad, his outfit showed up well, being especially good on aerial attack. The lightness of his line will not have a great deal of bearing on Saturday's contest, as the Fond du Lac squad is reported as being lighter than in previous years also.

Coach Wilson has chosen the best of his candidates to start the game Saturday, taking only those men who have worked conscientiously and showed themselves fit for the fight. The local lineup will be as follows:

Hillman, r. e. Fountain, r. t. Kline, r. s. Uebach, r. e. Voelckers, l. c. Scheurle, or Stevens, l. t. Courtney, l. e. Bowdler, q. Bloomer or Wenzel, l. h. Baehne, r. h. Bleier, l. b. Voelckers has shown up well all through the weeks of practice and looks like a coming star. Steensma may replace Fountain at tackle, as the regular man has not been appearing for practice regularly.

WILLS KNOCKS OUT SMITH IN SECOND

Negro Boxer Toys With Man Who Stayed Ten Rounds With Firpo

New York—Harry Wills, negro heavyweight of New York, Thursday night knocked out Homer Smith of Kalamazoo, Mich., in the second round of a fifteen round match in the Queensboro stadium, Long Island City.

Smith was knocked down five times in the first round, but did not appear to have been hurt by the body punches of the negro as he went to his corner.

In the second round, Smith went down once without being hit, but jumped to his feet when the referee started after him. Wills then clipped him in the body with a left and he went down for a nine count. Regaining his feet he walked into a right that sent him to his knees. After a count of two, Smith rolled over on his back, stuck his feet in the air and was counted out.

The crowd seemed to take the match as a joke. Smith never once made an effort to hit Wills and he apparently was little hurt when he walked from the ring.

Smith was down on his knees from a right to the body before a half of the first round had passed. The referee counted. Twice more he was on his knees for counts of eight and was down twice for counts of one.

Smith gained a bit of fame by staying ten rounds with Luis Angel Firpo before the Argentine fought Jack Dempsey. Smith weighed 190 pounds Thursday night and Wills 211.

YOUNG KNOCKS OUT DARCY IN SECOND

Oshkosh—Jabber Young, Menasha knocked out Art Darcy, New York, in the second round of a ten round bout here Thursday night. Darcy was knocked down three times in the second round. The men are welterweights.

In the semi-windup Battling Herb of Oshkosh, won a shade over Johnny Michaels of Milwaukee in six rounds.

LAWRENCE RUNNERS OUT FOR CROSSCOUNTRY WORK

For the past two weeks twenty-five Lawrence runners have been setting out regularly for cross country workouts over a three and one half mile course, in preparation for the try-outs scheduled for Oct. 2. Rehbein, Gribble, Klapp and Hunt are some of last year's distance men who are working out, and they have reported to be making a better showing than ever.

CUBS DEFEAT WHITE SOX IN SECOND GAME OF CHICAGO SERIES

Americans Put Up Hard Fight But Lose Out To Nationals, 4 To 3

Chicago—The National leaguers made it two straight over the Americans in the Chicago city series on Thursday when the Cubs won the second game from the Sox, 4 to 3.

Vic Aldridge pitched tight ball and was afforded brilliant support for seven innings, but after yielding two runs in the eighth and passing Mostil, first up in the ninth, he was removed in favor of Fussell. Hollis Thurston, who pitched for the Sox and was hit hard in spots.

The Cubs scored in the first inning, showing a single tally on Grantnam's double and infield out and a single by Friberg. In the fourth the National leaguers added two more. Hartnett singled with one out, took second on a wild pitch by Thurston and came home when Aldridge singled to center. Stutz got a two bagger past McClellan, putting Aldridge on third and the Cub pitcher scored Adams' sacrifice fly to Falk.

Consecutive singles by Aldridge and Stutz with two out and Collins' fumble of Adams' grounder gave the Cubs their fourth run in the sixth. It was in the seventh that the Sox scored their first run. McClellan, first up, doubled and rode home on infield singles by Crouse and Thurston. Fighting hard, the Sox managed to pull up to within one run of the Cubs with a two run attack in the eighth. Collins' single, a triple by Barrett and Kamm's two bagger, sent the runs over.

In the second inning, Catcher Ray Schalk of the Americans was chased from the game for throwing a handful of dust at Empire Ormsby in protesting a close decision in which Schalk was called out at second.

HEIDEMAN LOSES IN TENNIS MATCH

Star's Defeat Comes As Biggest Surprise Of Lawrence Net Tourney

Lawrence tennis tournament has progressed through the second round, and one match of the semi-finals has been played off, which makes it practically certain that the meet will be finished before the end of the week.

In the second round of the elimination matches, Lee defeated Clapp, 6-3, 6-2; Hunting beat Hollis, 3-5, 5-1; Nesbitt eliminated Purpee, 6-1, 6-2; Heideman bested Gault, 6-0, 6-1.

The surprise of the tourney was Heideman's defeat, 6-1, 6-4, before Nesbitt's racquet in their semi-final match. Lee and Hunting still are to play.

COE GRIDDERS BATTLE PARSONS TEAM SATURDAY

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Giving his varsity eleven a much needed rest, Coach Moray Eby has been spending a majority of his time this week drilling the Coe reserves in offensive and defensive play. Light signal drill only was the order for the regular the first half of the week, with the second string going through lengthy scrimmages with the freshmen.

Eby doubtless will start the same eleven against Parsons on Friday that played Wisconsin last Saturday. All of the players came through the game in good condition and their vacation this week should put them back in fighting trim.

Eby is not underestimating the Wildcat squad, and will be prepared for the stiffest kind of a fight from the first of three straight to be played. Coach Devine's eleven, the game is on the Coe field, against Parsons, Dubuque and Knox.

Heroes Of Thursday Battle

Babe Ruth (right) and Emil "Irish" Meusel as they looked while polling three of the four circuit drives knocked during the second game of the world series Thursday. Meusel for the Giants, and Ruth for the Yankees.

The Babe was not content with one fourbase hit, but slammed out two of them for good measure. The Yanks' score was further swelled by another homerun poled by Ward.

Ruth, Colossus Of Game, Shatters World Record

New York—When the last baseball is tossed, another tarpaulin is pulled over the diamond to cover it for all time, and when the records of the game are compiled with finality, in all probability one mark will stand out unequaled at the top of the list. Along side the record will be the name of George Herman Ruth. And if the compiler is human, he'll add in parenthesis, "Babe."

Without doubt the greatest baseball figure since the game began, said by some to be "greater even than the game itself," George Herman Ruth probably has attracted more public attention over a number of years than any other living man with the possible exception of David Lloyd George, the schoolmaster's son who led Great Britain through the greatest war of the ages.

GAINED FAME AS PITCHER
Ruth's diamond history is too well known to be detailed again. Everyone knows that he first gained fame as a pitcher when he went to the Boston American league club from the Baltimore Orioles; and that he first became celebrated as a world's series pitcher. Notable as were his achievements on the mound they did not compare with the prodigious batting that he accomplished when he came to the New York Yankees as a center fielder and slugger extraordinary.

He holds the record for home run hitting. But though he had participated in numerous world's series—this is his third since joining the Yankees—he always failed miserably to hit in the October classic. A wheel slipped; something went wrong; Ruth couldn't do much damage to world's series pitchers until Thursday. And on Thursday he came into his own. His two home runs being the margin by which his team triumphed over the Giants and evened the series.

Ruth's hitting could not have come at a more important time unless it could be in the deciding game. The victory on Thursday meant much for his teammates. It restored their confidence with the tremendous psychological advantage that entails and it enabled them to go to sleep Thursday night in the knowledge that when they next take the field they are, at least on even terms, and according to some critics, better than that since the Giants have used up four pitchers.

In the semi-final, and the winner will fight for the college championship with Nesbitt. Hollis, Nesbitt, Heideman, Lee and Hunting probably will be chosen to represent the school in the team matches with Y. M. C. A. players next week.

LEONARD LADWIG BARRED; LEAVES MARQUETTE SQUAD

Former Star Fullback Of Ripon Declared Ineligible In Football

Milwaukee—Leonard Ladwig, former star fullback at Ripon college who transferred to Marquette this year and from whom much had been expected, is ineligible and, according to reports Wednesday night, has left Marquette for a college in Michigan.

Ladwig's work in the Marquette-Ripon games of the last two years was largely responsible for the fact that the collegians held the Hilltoppers to a scoreless tie both times. When he came to Marquette this year to take dentistry, it was believed that his credits were all right. Came word from Ripon, however, that he was ineligible there and while Coach Frank J. Murray of Marquette had these reports under investigation, he allowed Ladwig to keep up practice that he might be in shape. The fact that there was some question as to his eligibility accounts for the fact that Murray did not use him in either the St. Mary's or Lombard games.

The decision eliminating Ladwig means that Ripon college fans will not get to see their former idol play here on Saturday when they swarm the State street campus to watch the Marquette-Crimson game. The two teams have tied, 0 to 0, for the last two years and an honest to goodness struggle for supremacy is expected this year.

Coach Murray forsook the Hilltop campus on Wednesday and transported his squad to a secret gridiron several miles from the gymnasium, where they went through two hours of extensive drill that ended up with a scrimmage in which Ripon formations and plays were used. Early in the afternoon, the entire squad worked out with the tackling dummy, getting a number of pointers on tackling and blocking. Kicking and receiving, forward pass defensive work and signal drill were included on the program before the scrimmage began.

Babe's Mighty Wallops Overshadow Great Work Of Contending Hurlers

Yankees Regain Confidence As Ruth Slams Ball Out Of Lot—Teams Even Up For Rest Of Series

New York—Pitchers always looked upon as the prime factors in contests between leading baseball teams have been relatively unimportant in the present world's series between the New York Giants and the New York Yankees. Like any bird targets they have been but shooters of targets for squads of marksmen, and to the marksmen has gone the glory.

The series now stands all even. Giants and Yankees each having won a game. In the first tilt Casey Stengel of Missouri was the master marksman, his home run in the ninth inning winning the game for the Giants, 5 to 4. Casey now must bow to Babe Ruth, whose two homers Thursday provided the winning margin for the Yankees, 4 to 2. Ruth's first blow caught on the end of his great warclub, sailed clear over the stands of the Polo Grounds. The second, a terrific low flying line drive, sent the ball into the lower right field grand stand and scattered the wooden arm-rest of a seat.

Compared to such stick work the excellent pitching of Ryan for the Giants and Bush for the Yankees in the first game and that of Herb Pennock for the Yankees in Thursday's contest sinks into the shadows.

There yet may be an old fashioned pitcher's duel in the series but with the heavy hitters inform the possibility is remote.

Ruth is the axis about which the Yankee sphere revolves. When Ruth is Ruth the things turn perfectly. And Ruth was Ruth Thursday. Whatever confidence the Yankees may have lost in 1922 when they were turned to defeat by the Giants without a single not use him in either the St. Mary's or Lombard games.

The decision eliminating Ladwig means that Ripon college fans will not get to see their former idol play here on Saturday when they swarm the State street campus to watch the Marquette-Crimson game. CLUB WOMEN SET TO START DRIVE TO RAISE $10,000

New Club Quarters Creates
New Need For Money To Keep Club Operating

"How is your big and interesting club coming along?" was the question which was asked the delegates of Appleton Women's Club at the Wisconsin Federation convention which they have been attending at Fond du Lac this week. Almost invariably the delegates from other cities would add:

"It seems to me that you in Appleton have the right idea. To have your women and girls working together in one club is such an advance over the old way of each group going its various ways. The fact that you include people of every creed is also such an advance for community spirit."

START CAMPAIGN

This was encouraging to the women who start out on Wednesday to ask the community to finance the activities of the club to the extent of $10,000 for running expenses. The ministers have been asked to announce the campaign in the churches on Sunday. Short talks on the work which the women and girls are doing will be made to other clubs. A moving picture of the various clubs and classes after the order of a Punch and Judy show will be shown in one of the downtown stores on Saturday. All this in preparation for the finance campaign.

Already the club activities have begun to overflow the clubhouse and the playhouse which makes it necessary for the women to earn and solicit as much money as possible in order that the future may be met adequately. On Thursday evening sports supper was given at the clubhouse at 7 o'clock by a rehearsal of "The Knave of Hearts" in the Appleton Girls club rooms on the second floor. Bowlers filled every alley at the Arcade Bowling alleys. The social dancing class used the small dining room at Hotel Appleton. The beauty course met at the DeLong Hat Shoppe. The team games classes met at the high school. In the Playhouse the benefit play rehearsals were held. All this in four hours.

CAMPAIGN SUPPERS

Suppers will be served at the clubhouse Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week for the campaign workers. It is like furnishing a home to mortals into larger club quarters for everything that one does means more money. These suppers necessitated the purchase, literally, of a barrel of dishes. Since the club now has room for all its own banquets and will be in a position to serve banquets for others, the dishes had to be purchased, rather than rented. There are hundreds of places, really necessary for all the dollars which the club can earn and collect. If Appleton is to continue its reputation for being in advance of the others in the community club idea.

A standing invitation is extended by all the members of the club to every man and woman, girl and boy in Appleton to go to the clubhouse at any time to see what it looks like and what it can be used for. It is a regrettable fact that there are some women whose dues entitle them to be called members of the club who have not yet been to see what the clubhouse looks like. The new quarters are at the corner of Harris and Onondaga, in case you did not know.

Students Quick To Empty School At "Fire Drill"

Walking out of the rooms as though they had been lined up waiting for the bell, Appleton high school students emptied the building during a fire drill on Thursday morning in one minute and forty seconds. This is the longest that it has taken to empty the building this year. But the drill was held during the third school period when there are nearly 500 students in the assembly room, all of whom must go out the south entrance.

The drill was held as a part of the fire prevention week program, although drills are being held constantly at the school. With the building far from fireproof construction and with more than 1000 students in the space which was estimated originally to have a capacity of not more than 500, Lee C. Boser, high school principal, is taking every precaution against danger. When the students are accustomed to answering an alarm to the drill bell, they will undoubtedly keep their heads if a real fire occurs.

WOMEN URGE REMOVAL OF BILLBOARDS ALONG ROADS

By Associated Press
Fond du Lac—Banishment of the billboard that the wonderful scenery of the state may be viewed by those passing along Wisconsin highways was urged by speakers at the annual banquet of Wisconsin Women's clubs in session here.

James C. Chandler, Racine, who created the outdoor art of the organization two years ago declared that the tourist business in the state has become the third largest, and it is necessary to keep the highways free from billboards.

The federation went record as opposed to the appointment of Herman Sachjen as prohibition commissioner.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick worked for years to perfect some low priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or some other thing else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

All druggists dispense it daily for about 25 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere. adv.

LOANS GRANTED ON SEVEN MORE HOMES BY B. & L. BOARD

Building And Loan Association
Now Will Take Applications For Spring

Seven loans for homes, the last to be granted for the fall season, were approved by the board of directors of Appleton Building and Loan Association at the monthly meeting Thursday evening in the office of George H. Packley, secretary. The total amount is $14,500, which means partial payment on seven houses that are to be erected before winter.

Eight applications approximating loans of $25,000 also were received and placed on file for homes that are to be constructed in the spring. These must await the accumulation of money during the winter from payments by shareholders.

LAST LOANS FOR YEAR

The board decided that further applications for homebuilding assistance now will be deferred until spring, because the funds for this purpose will be exhausted when the present requests are met. Those who will build in the spring will be encouraged to take out shares now on the installment savings plan so they themselves will have accumulated part of the necessary amount by the time they

Popularity of the association also is expressed in a letter received from a resident of Gunnison, Colo., who desired to invest $1,500 in the Appleton organization.

Arrangements were made by the association to obtain for Appleton people copies of the booklet, "How To Own Your Own Home," published by the United States department of commerce. The government charges five cents for each copy, and all who desire one may deposit that amount at Mr. Packley's office and a booklet will be obtained.
